Photo Regulations

So that congestion both on the sideline and the photo deck may be eliminated the following regulations, adopted by the Big Eight Conference, will be utilized in Memorial Stadium during the 1979 season:

1. Photo credentials will be issued on a priority basis with the following receiving top priority: television news film personnel; film personnel of television shows of two respective head coaches; film crews for highlight films of two respective schools; film crews for coaching staff study film of two respective schools; newspaper photographers from outlets with daily editions; photographers representing national magazines; delayed television originations.
2. Free lance photographers not on assignment will not be issued credentials. Generally, requests for credentials to be used by cutline writers, photo assistants, etc., will be turned down. That rule also applies to weekly newspapers. Visiting student newspapers and yearbooks will be limited to one pass.
3. Photo passes will be issued in advance. Those wishing to work from the sideline, however, must secure an armband from the KU sports information director. Armbands may be secured on level six. SIDELINE ADMITTANCE IS BY ARMBAND ONLY.
4. Armbands limit the bearer to the areas outside the 35-yard lines. All photographers must be cognizant at all times of the dotted restraining line around the field. Only when the clock is not moving is a photographer allowed to cross the dotted line.
5. Bench passes restrict a person inside the 35-yard lines (except when they are going directly to and from the dressing rooms). Although such requests will be scrutinized closely, photographers may request both a photo and bench pass.
6. Sideline supervisors will patrol both sidelines to make certain all of the above is adhered to. Penalty for abusing stated privileges is removal from the stadium.
7. All photo deck space is reserved. Those desiring to work from photo deck must make space reservations with the KU sports information director.

Don Fambrough

Head Football Coach

ONE of the most popular personalities in the history of the intercollegiate athletic program at Kansas, Don Fambrough is looking ahead to his sixth season as the Jayhawks head football coach.

Fambrough, who also is approaching his 29th year on the KU staff (25th as either head coach or assistant coach), was first appointed head coach in January of 1971 succeeding Pepper Rodgers who had resigned to become head coach at UCLA. Prior to that he had served 19 years at Kansas as a football assistant to J. V. Sikes, Jack Mitchell and Rodgers.

Rebuilding from nearly the ground up Kansas put together back-to-back 4-7 seasons in 1971 and '72 before finishing 7-4-1 in 1973 including an 18-31 loss to North Carolina State in the Liberty Bowl. The next year Kansas suffered a rash of injuries to key personnel and, after being ranked in the Top 10 early in the season, finished 4-7 including six straight losses to conclude the season. With one year remaining on his contract he decided to step down opening the door for the Bud Moore regime.

But Fambrough's loyalties have always been with Kansas and he remained on the KU staff the next four years as assistant director of the Williams Educational Fund, KU's athletic scholarship fund raising organization.

PLAYING with Fambrough-recruited players the Jayhawks enjoyed success the first two seasons of the self-imposed exile. But as those players graduated difficult times set in and, at the conclusion of the 1978 season which saw KU post a 1-10 record, new director of athletics Bob Marcum asked Fambrough to give up his administrative duties and take charge of the football program again. For the second time within a decade Fambrough was being asked to pick up the pieces and nearly build from the ground up.

"When he asked me I got up and walked out of the room," Fambrough said. "But the more I thought about it the more excited I got."

He wasn't the only one excited. So were the Kansas fans which almost universally endorsed the Marcum decision.

Last year, the first of his second tenure, Kansas finished 3-8 overall and 2-5 in the Big Eight after many prognosticators figured the Jayhawks for a winless season. The 2-5 league mark earned KU a tie for fifth in the final standings.

ALWAYS known to be an excellent coach, Fambrough is perhaps better recognized as an outstanding recruiter. As one opposing coach put it: "Rev. Billy Graham wouldn't stand a chance against Fambrough. He could sell a freezer to an Eskimo." Selling top-notch prospects on Kansas was merely the chore and he responded by signing what is believed to be the best group of football prospects in the school's history. Even Fambrough admits the rebuilding progress is probably ahead of schedule.

"We feel we're on the right track," he said. "We know there is still much ground to be covered but we're getting there . . . perhaps a little faster than I first anticipated. I've been around long enough, though, to know you don't rebuild a program overnight. The scholarship limitations make it even more difficult to rebuild quickly."

Fambrough, who will turn 58 on Oct. 19 (the day after the Iowa State game), will embark upon his sixth season with an overall record of 22-33-1.

Few men in the history of the school are more closely associated with the KU athletic program. The co-captain of the Jayhawks' 1948 Orange Bowl team, Fambrough's association with KU began following World War II. The native of Longview, Tex., transferred to Kansas from the University of Texas following his stint with the Air Force. An all-conference offensive guard, he helped lead the Jayhawks to a share of the Big Six title both in 1946 and '47. He also played linebacker and was the Jayhawks place-kicker. On two occasions KU fans have voted him to the school's all-time team.

FAMBROUGH is only the second KU football captain of the 20th century to assume the head coaching reins for his alma mater. The other was Ad Lindsey who captained the 1916 club and later coached for seven years during the 1930's. He is the first KU alumnus since Henry Shenk (1943-45) to hold the head coaching job.

Donald Preston Fambrough was born Oct. 19, 1922, in Longview, Tex. He graduated from Longview High School in 1941 after playing fullback and linebacker four years on some outstanding prep football teams. As a freshman his team posted a perfect 13-0 record and won the Texas championship at a time when there was only one class of schoolboy competition in the Lone Star State. Longview reached the quarter-finals Fambrough's senior year.

Don played freshman football at Texas in 1941 and in 1942 was a sophomore blocking back on D. X. Bible's single wing club that won the Southwest Conference title, trimmed Georgia Tech 14-7 in the Cotton Bowl and posted a 9-2 record.

FOLLOWING his sophomore year at Texas, Fambrough joined the Air Force. While in the service he played the 1943 season with an air base team at Salt Lake City and in 1944 and '45 with the famed Second Air Force team at Colorado Springs that also included such standouts as Ray Evans, Red Hogan, Frankie Sinkwich, Bulldog Turner and Glenn Dobbs.

Largely through the persuasion of Evans, the Jayhawks' Hall of Fame halfback, Fambrough enrolled at KU following World War II and played offensive guard and linebacker for George Sauer's teams of 1946 and '47 that won conference co-championships both years. The 1946 club posted a 7-2-1 record and the next year the Jayhawks finished 8-1-2, including a 20-14 loss to Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl.

Fambrough was co-captain (with Otto Schnellbacher) of the 1947 club. He also was the kickoff man and did the conversion kicking, booting 19 of 22 extra points as a junior and 32 of 43 his final season, including two in the Orange Bowl. His total of 51 extra points stood as a school career record for 21 years. Fambrough made all-conference both years and helped the West All-Stars defeat the East in the San Francisco Shrine game following the 1946 season even though he had not completed his collegiate career.

During his three varsity years (one at Texas and two at Kansas) Fambrough's teams won three conference championships, played in two bowls and finished with an overall record of 24 victories, 5 losses and 3 ties.

HIS COACHING career began in 1948 as a graduate assistant in J. V. Sikes' first year at Kansas. Fambrough coached 19 years at KU under Sikes, Jack Mitchell and Pepper Rodgers, three at East Texas State (1954-56) under Sikes and one year at Wichita State (1957) under Chalmer Woodard. In his second year at Kansas, Fambrough became head freshman coach and his first frosh club posted a 2-0 record while whipping Missouri and Kansas State. His 1950 freshman team finished 1-1. Fambrough was promoted to varsity line coach the following year and he worked primarily with linemen and linebackers throughout his 23 years as a coaching aide.

Equal to his playing and coaching accomplishments has been Fambrough's success off the field. An extremely popular banquet speaker, Fambrough is widely respected by not only KU alumni, but people through the state.

His rapport with alumni, fans, coaches and people in all walks of life has led to his well known success as a recruiter. During his former stints as a KU assistant and head coach, Fambrough recruited more than 20 players who are currently active in the National Football League.

THAT list includes such stars and KU greats as Steve Towle, John Zook, Delvin Williams, John Riggins, Mike Butler, Terry Beeson and Nolan Cromwell to name a few.

Fambrough and the former Delfred Few, also of Longview, Texas, were married in 1942 while both were students at the University of Texas. "Del" returned to Longview during the war and completed study for a bachelor's degree at East Texas State. She later earned a master's degree at KU and for all but three of the last 22 years has taught English at Lawrence High School.

They have two sons, Preston and Robert. Both are KU graduates. Preston is now chairman of the English Department at Baker University in Baldwin, Kan. Bob lives in Phoenix where he works for a roofing company.

A. R. Kennedy

Don in Second Term as Head Coach at Kansas

Don Fambrough is both the 30th and 32nd head football coach at the University of Kansas. Nineteen out of the other 30 concluded their career at Kansas with a winning percentage of .500 or better. All totaled going into the 1980 season Kansas has recorded a lifetime mark of 415 victories, 364 defeats and 51 ties in 90 years of intercollegiate football. That's a combined winning percentage of .531.

The highest lifetime victory total ever recorded by a KU coach was 53 by A. R. Kennedy who guided the Jayhawks from 1904 to 1910. Kennedy's lifetime mark at KU was 53-9-4, a winning percentage of .831. The winning percentage ranks fourth behind Fielding H. Yost, who in his only season at KU (1899) posted a perfect 10-0-0 record, E. M. Hopkins, who in his only year (1891) recorded a 7-0-1 mark for a .938 winning percentage, and Wylie G. Woodruff, who in two years (1897-1898) recorded a 15-3-0 mark for an .833 winning percentage.

Jack Mitchell, now a newspaper publisher in Wellington, Kan., recorded the longest tenure of the other 30 coaches. The popular Mitchell guided KU grid forces nine years from 1958 to 1966 recording a 42-44-5 record.

Several former KU head coaches have made significant contributions to the game. Perhaps one of the most unnoticed is the late Dr. John Outland, former KU player who coached the Jayhawks in 1901. Dr. Outland, who also is recognized as the "Father of the Kansas Relays," is remembered today with the annual presentation of the Outland Trophy, given to the year's best college football lineman.

KU Rebuilding Project on Target

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following is an interview with Don Fambrough regarding Kansas' prospects for the 1980 season.

Q. As you approach the second season of your comeback as head coach at Kansas, do you feel you're on target as far as the rebuilding project goes?

A. I think so. I don't believe anyone thought we would win three games last year, and we did, so that in itself has put us ahead of schedule. The key to any rebuilding project, of course, is recruiting and we believe we have made good strides in this area.

Q. It sounds that way. Most of the ratings of incoming freshman crops has Kansas in the top 20. Why, all of a sudden, was Kansas able to recruit that kind of class?

A. It was a combination of things but, as much as anything, I attribute it to our current players. You know it really doesn't matter what myself or our coaches tell a prospective student-athlete if he can't see it for himself. When these young men visited our campus they could see from our current players that they truly believe in what we're doing and how we're doing it. Our current players simply did an outstanding job of recruiting these young men. Of course there is much more to it than that but, in my opinion, this was the key. For that reason I am very hopeful we can continue with that kind of recruiting success. It's going to take more than just one year like this. Every year has to be this successful if we're realistically going to compete for the Big Eight championship.

Q. One would think that kind of attitude will carry over on the playing field.

A. You're absolutely right. Attitude is not a problem. Lord knows our young men played their hearts out last year and I fully expect that to be the case this year. We simply were a little short-handed and only time will correct that.

Q. Will Kansas be substantially improved in that regard this year?

A. I think we'll be better but I don't know how much better. That will depend on many things including the development of some of our new people. Ten years ago I never thought we would be so dependent on freshmen but the fact is we are. They now comprise nearly one-third of your team. At the same time you can only expect so much from a freshman. It's totally unfair to expect any freshman to step in and make an immediate impact. We have to be patient and let them develop. They will in time and when they do I'm confident they'll be darn fine football players. Remember that we had more than 20 seniors on that football team last year. That means that while we're probably going to have better personnel at many positions from the standpoint of physical capabilities we're also going to have basically inexperienced personnel at many positions. In my opinion there is no substitute for experience.

Q. That sounds like the rebuilding project is still just getting off the ground.

A. I don't know that I totally agree. From the standpoint of a won-loss record we might not be that substantially improved this year. Then again we might—I just can't say right now. At the same time there is no doubt in my mind we will be a much better football team from the standpoint of personnel. Again, it goes back to experience and having patience in the development of our players. The one thing that pleases me so in this regard is our coaching staff. They did an excellent job in bringing that football team along last year. You know having great players is just part of the answer. You also have to have a great coaching staff to go with them. We have that at Kansas.

Q. Can you make a comparison of this year's team at the conclusion of spring practice with that of the 1979 team?

A. Yes, and I would say there is no question in my mind that this team was far ahead of the 1979 team at that stage. But, I would have been immensely disappointed if that had not been the case. This past spring we did not have to spend as much time acquainting our players with our system. There was less learning in that respect. That allowed for more individual work. Our scrimmages were much more productive than those of a year ago. And, also, we were so fortunate in that we had very few injuries. Very few players missed much of the spring.

Q. Last year Kansas was dead last in Big Eight defensive statistics. Do you figure to be improved in this area?

A. I'm confident that we will be because we will have better personnel. We'll be stronger and quicker. At the same time we lost five starters on defense so experience will again be a problem.

Q. What is your No. 1 concern about the defensive unit?

A. Because we have very little experience at outside linebacker I would have to give it top priority. Again, I think we'll have good personnel at outside linebacker but Hilton Dawson represents the only significant experience we have there.

Q. Chris Toburen played outside linebacker last year and he figures to be All-Big Eight material in 1980. At the same time you moved him to inside linebacker. If outside linebacker is your No. 1 concern what was the reason for the switch?

- A. First of all Chris Toburen is without a doubt one of the finest defensive players in the Big Eight. But I believe he can have a greater impact on this team at inside linebacker than outside. That plus the fact that I believe we can bring along some of our young people at outside linebacker led us to the decision. Remember that when you're rebuilding a program as we are it is imperative that you make the absolute best use of your personnel. I know Chris would be one of the league's best outside linebackers. But I also think he'll be one of the league's best inside linebackers and I believe he can be of more help to us there.
- Q. One of your best defensive weapons last year was Mike Hubach who, of course, was one of the country's top punters. Now that he's graduated how do you evaluate the kicking game?
- A. Naturally it's a concern in that Mike handled both the punting and place-kicking and handled both well. The kicking game is so vitally important. It can both keep you from getting beat and, at the same time, allow you a better chance to win. Undoubtedly both responsibilities will fall into the hands of newcomers and that makes it a concern. I want to add, though, that I think we have quality people ready to step in. Again, it's a matter of experience.
- Q. Two years ago Bucky Scribner was the best punter in the nation at the junior college level. Is he the No. 1 candidate for the punting chores?
- A. Going into fall drills he is. Of course things can change but in this case I'll be surprised if Bucky doesn't end up as our No. 1 punter. He has both distance and hang time. You know there is much more to a kicking game. Coverage is just as important as the kick itself. Bucky has the potential to have a very good average in terms of yards per kick. But that's not going to do us much good if the coverage isn't just as good. You can bet that we'll spend considerable time on the kicking game this fall.
- Q. What about the place-kicking?
- A. It is more unsettled although, again, I think we have quality. We'll be taking a very close look at Bruce Kallmeyer, one of our freshmen who we're very high on.
- Q. The offensive line has been a problem area for Kansas for seemingly the last several years. Do you see improvement?
- A. Yes, I most definitely do. We're still a long way from where we need to be in terms of the number of quality offensive linemen but we're making good progress. Experience, again, is my major concern. Bob Fiss, Bob Whitten, Fred Osborn, Gus Kyles and David Lawrence are all quality offensive linemen but they are also the only ones with significant experience. We have several other quality athletes among our offensive linemen but most have no experience and the others have limited experience. It's a key for us, there is no doubt about that. We can't have a good, balanced offense without a quality offensive line. You can bet it will be a point of emphasis this fall.
- Q. The quarterback position was never actually settled in spring practice. Where does it stand going into the fall?
- A. I think you properly described it . . . unsettled. That does not mean that I see it necessarily as a problem area but it is true that the position is wide open going into pre-season drills.
- Q. Does that mean the door is being left open for Frank Seurer (freshman quarterback from Huntington Beach, Calif.)?
- A. We certainly believe that Frank Seurer has a chance to be a great quarterback for us. And he, like everyone else, will be given an opportunity to win the No. 1 job. At the same time we are not going into the season thinking that Frank Seurer has to step in and do the job if we're going to be successful. We have several quarterbacks in camp and we have confidence in each and everyone of them. Based on the spring I'd say Steve Smith probably has the inside track on the No. 1 job. He had an exceptional spring practice. As to who ends up with the No. 1 job we'll have to wait and see. It should be interesting.
- Q. Kansas seems to be blessed with outstanding receivers. Would you say this is the team's No. 1 strength?
- A. I'd say it definitely is one of our strengths. In fact I honestly don't know that I would trade ours for those of any other team in the country. First of all David Verser has to be absolute first team All-America material. But in addition to him Russ Bastin, Jeff Schleicher, Lester Mickens, Wayne Capers, Mike Kennaw and Jim Boushka are all outstanding or potentially outstanding. We're very fortunate. And, don't forget that our running backs are all very capable receivers. That gives us another weapon in our offense.
- Q. On paper the running back situation appears much better. Do you agree?
- Q. I think so. In Harry Sydney we may have the league's best fullback. If he plays up to his potential, and there is no reason to believe he won't — he constantly gives us great effort, we can have potentially a fine set of running backs. Depth at fullback may be a problem. We're counting heavily on the development of Tim Davis.
- Q. Competition at tailback appears to be the best it has been in some time.
- A. You're right and, of course, this is another reason why we feel good about our running back situation. Walter Mack and Garfield Taylor both had outstanding springs. We think both will be tremendous players for us this year. And we certainly are not forgetting about Kerwin Bell. We think he was among the nation's top two running backs last year in high school. It's difficult to imagine that in time he won't be one of the top running backs in the Big Eight.
- Q. You seem to be as excited as ever about the 1980 season.
- A. I don't think I have ever had as much fun in my life as I'm having right now. We have a great group of young men and a great coaching staff. There is still progress to be made but we're getting there. You bet I'm excited.

The Outlook

Improvement Expected in '80

DON FAMBROUGH is, understandably, impatient in his rebuilding efforts of the Kansas football program.

"I wish we could turn it around overnight," he says wistfully. "We know, however, that is not possible. Our main concern is making good progress each year. We made good improvement in 1979 and we expect to make more improvement in 1980."

And that is the only definite expectation in 1980 as far as the popular mentor is concerned.

"I fully expect us to be a much improved football team from the standpoint of having more quality personnel," he says. "At the same time we lost more than 20 lettermen last year, about half of which were starters. You just can't replace experience like that overnight."

To be specific the Jayhawks lost 22 lettermen from 1979 including 11 starters (12 if you include punter-place kicker Mike Hubach). Forty-eight monogram winners are expected to be present for Fambrough's sixth season at the Jayhawk helm. That is reason enough for him to be evasive with predictions.

"I'm not very good at predicting won-loss records in the first place," Fambrough says. "It will be particularly risky trying to do it with this team. If some of our young people are capable of providing immediate help, and I'm optimistic they can, we could be a much improved team. We'll be relying so much on our newcomers, though, that it's really tough to forecast how good we will be or what our final record will be."

ONE THING is for sure. Kansas seems to be blessed with exceptional skill people starting with wide receiver David Verser (6-1, 200, Senior). The All-America candidate is already the fifth leading receiver in school history. He is not the only target KU quarterbacks will be aiming for. Russ Bastin (6-2, 205, Soph.), who sat out last season with an injury after lettering as a freshman, figures to be the No. 1 flanker going into the fall. Fambrough believes he will be among the nation's top receivers before his collegiate career is concluded. Depth is also present with Wayne Capers (6-2, 200, Soph.) behind Verser and Lester Mickens (6-0, 170, Senior) and Jim Boushka (6-3, 205, Soph.) behind Bastin.

The running backs also appear solid led by second team all-conference performer Harry Sydney (6-0, 215, Senior). Possessing both speed and strength, Sydney rates among the Big Eight's very best fullbacks in 1980. Tim Davis (6-1, 200, Soph.) figures to be his backup after lettering as a freshman last year.

Most eyes will be on tailback where the Jayhawks possess three of the best prospects the school has ever seen at the position. Two are freshmen, however, so optimism is being tempered by Fambrough.

THE ONLY letterman among the trio is Walter Mack (5-10, 185, Junior) who, despite missing nearly half the season with an injury, finished last year as the team's No. 3 rusher. He is listed No. 1 going into the fall. Behind him are rookies Garfield Taylor (6-1, 205, Fresh.) and Kerwin Bell (5-9, 180, fresh.). Taylor, who two years ago at Killian High School in Miami was regarded as one of the nation's top prep running backs, is actually in his second season at KU after sitting out last year because of a pre-season knee injury. Bell is one of a trio off last year's state champion Edison High School team in Huntington Beach, Calif., to pick Kansas. He merely was regarded by the Kansas staff as one of the top two prep running backs in the country last year.

Quarterback, however, rates a concern from the standpoint that no clear-cut leader emerged in the spring. Fambrough is quick to say, however, that he does not necessarily consider the position a problem.

"I am hopeful that someone emerges early in pre-season practice to claim the No. 1 job," he says. "At the same time I can't say that I consider the position to be a major problem. To the contrary I think we have some very fine quarterbacks on this team. I'm going to be very interested to see who emerges as No. 1."

Steve Smith (6-0, 185, Junior), a non-letter winner to this point in his career, may have the inside track going into fall drills. Fambrough was highly complimentary of his work throughout spring practice. Other candidates include Bill Lillis (6-3, 200, Senior), Mike Phipps (6-2, 200, Soph.), Mike Bohn (6-3, 195, Soph.), Chris Gebert (6-2, 205, Junior), Marc Messner (6-2, 180, Fresh.), Jeff Sneed (6-0, 170, Fresh.) and Frank Seurer (6-2, 185, Fresh.).

Seurer, also a graduate of Edison High School in Huntington Beach, Calif., of course teamed with Bell (and freshman linebacker Bill Malavasi) last season. Like Bell he was regarded last season to be among the best high school performers at his position. Many observers believe it will only be a short period of time before the No. 1 job is his. Fambrough, however, warns of too much in the way of early expectations.

David Verser, shown here with a touchdown reception against Iowa State last year (24-7 Kansas victory), may be the best wide receiver in the nation. The first team All-Big Eight selection in 1979 figures to be a strong All-America candidate in 1980.

"So many people have talked about our great recruiting class and I agree it was superb," he says. "But let's be careful not to make Kerwin and Frank and all the other freshmen legends before their time. In the first place it's unfair to them. They're going to be tremendous players for us in time. At the same time I want them to develop normally and not be pressured into situations before they are fully ready to handle them."

THE OFFENSIVE line rated a concern going into spring drills and is still a top priority. Fambrough believes, however, that considerable improvement was made during the off-season.

Anchoring it is Bob Fiss (6-3, 250, Senior) at center. Three experienced guards are present in Fred Osborn (6-4, 240, Senior), David Lawrence (6-5, 240, Junior) and Gus Kyles (6-5, 245, Senior). Perhaps the best of all the interior linemen is tackle Bob Whitten (6-3, 270, Senior). Tight end appears to be in capable hands with Jeff Schleicher (6-4, 230, Soph.) and Mike Kennaw (6-3, 230, Senior).

The interior defensive line may rank as the No. 1 concern. Nose guard appears strong with the presence of Stanley Gardner (6-0, 245, Senior) who led KU down linemen in tackles last year. Injuries and inexperience make the tackle positions a major concern. It is hoped Jeff Fox (6-3, 245, Senior) is completely recovered from knee surgery. If so a big portion of the problem is taken care of as Fox may have been the Jayhawks' best defensive lineman last year prior to the injury. Joe Haus (6-4, 250, Junior), coming off a knee strain in the spring, and Guy Neighbors (6-6, 270, Junior) are also being counted on heavily as is Mark Wilbers (6-4, 255, Soph.).

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER is also a major concern as only Hilton Dawson (6-3, 235, Senior) represents experience. Sophomores Todd Bertsch (6-2, 205, Soph.) and Gary Coleman (6-1, 210, Soph.) and junior college transfer Ken McGovern (6-1, 210, Junior) all had fine springs giving optimism the position could be better than expected.

By contrast inside linebacker looks much stronger. Chris Toburen (6-2, 220, Junior), Scellars Young (6-5, 230, Senior) and Kyle McNorton (6-1, 230, Junior) are all potential All-Big Eight material. In addition Bryan Horn (6-2, 210, Junior), a transfer from Wichita State, was equally impressive in the spring. McNorton, it should be noted, rates a concern after having surgery twice (knee and ankle) since last season.

By virtue of experience alone the secondary figures to be improved. Cornerbacks Delvin Miller (6-0, 180, Senior), Joe Tumpich (5-10, 185, Senior), Dave Harris (6-0, 180, Senior) and Dan Wagoner (5-10, 175, Junior) have all been around for some time. And hawks (strong safety) Frank Wattelet (5-11, 195, Senior) and Ray Evans (6-1, 200, Soph.) are no longer wet behind the ears. On the surface free safety appears it might be a weak link. But not so, according to the KU staff. Robert Gentry (6-2, 190, Soph.), the only non-letterman in the first two units, and Roger Foote (6-3, 205, Soph.) are both exceptional athletes with stardom seemingly a short distance away. The cornerbacks are further strengthened by J.C. Booker (6-1, 190, Junior) and Tony McNee-ly (6-1, 200, Junior), both of whom have already earned two varsity letters.

THE DEPARTURE of Mike Hubach makes the kicking game a question mark. But the punting duties probably will fall into the capable hands of Bucky Scribner (6-0, 205, Soph.), who two years ago was the nation's top punter in the junior college ranks. The place-kicking could fall into the hands of quarterback Steve Smith although freshman Bruce Kallmeyer (5-10, 170, Fresh.) is highly regarded.

Kansas will again utilize a pro-set on offense and a 3-4-4 defensive format. Depth appears to be the No. 1 overall problem although what is regarded as a superb group of freshmen could alleviate that in a hurry.

"Our freshmen undoubtedly will play a big role for us," Fambrough concedes. "By necessity they will be given every opportunity to prove they can step in and be of immediate help."

Kansas' leading rusher in 1979 with 541 yards, Harry Sydney returns in 1980 to anchor the Jayhawks' ground attack. The second team All-Big Eight selection in 1979 had three 100-plus rushing games last season.

Coaching Staff

Mike Ackerley, Outside Linebackers

The newest member of the Kansas staff, Mike Ackerley left Colorado State this past March to coach the Jayhawks outside linebackers.

Ackerley, 33, had been the defensive line coach at Colorado State since 1973 under Ram coach Sark Arslanian. During that time he established a reputation as being both an outstanding recruiter and coach. He is given much of the credit for Colorado State's 1980 recruiting class, reportedly one of the best ever for CSU. And he also has produced some of the school's best defensive linemen.

Among his students at Colorado State were Mike Bell and Al Baker. Bell, now a defensive end for the Kansas City Chief, was the second person selected in the 1979 National Football League draft. Baker, now a defensive end with the Detroit Lions, was named the NFL's defensive rookie-of-the-year in 1978.

A 1970 graduate of Colorado State with a bachelor's degree in education, Ackerley began his collegiate career at Bakersfield (Calif.) Junior College where in 1967 he was a juco All-America defensive lineman. He then transferred to Colorado State where he lettered at offensive guard before a series of knee injuries prematurely ended his career.

After graduation he remained at Fort Collins to serve two years on the Colorado State staff as a graduate assistant and one year as a part-time assistant. He joined the Rams' staff fulltime July 1, 1973, as defensive line coach.

Ackerley is married to the former Peggy Young. They have two children — Chad, 9, and Carrie, 6 — and are expecting a third just prior to the start of the 1980 season. Ackerley was born March 21, 1947.

Tom Batta, Defensive Coordinator

Now in his second year on the Kansas staff, Tom Batta serves as the Jayhawks defensive coordinator. In addition he also tutors the noseguards and defensive tackles.

Batta, 37, came to Kansas following a five-year stay at the University of Colorado where he served as the Buffs' defensive line coach. At Colorado he produced four defensive linemen who have continued their careers in the National Football League.

Kansas is the third collegiate job for Batta. He first served at Akron (Ohio) University in 1973 as defensive coordinator. A year later he resigned to follow Bill Mallory to Colorado. Mallory had been at Miami (Ohio) University.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Batta was a two-year letterman at Kent State as a tackle. He received his bachelor's degree in education from Kent State in 1965 and a master's from Akron University in 1970.

His first coaching job was at Archbishop Hoban High School in Akron where he served as an assistant during the 1965 and '66 seasons. In 1967 he was elevated to the head job. He stayed in that position one season before moving to Warren Harding High School in Warren, Ohio, as an assistant.

Batta became head coach at Warren Harding in 1970 and his '71 team was the Ohio 3-A state champion with a 10-0 record. He was named coach-of-the-year in Ohio that season for Class 3-A. He resigned the position following the conclusion of the 1972 season to accept the defensive coordinator's job at Akron. His four-year record as a prep head coach was 27-11-2.

He is married to the former Liz Sundstrom. They have two children — Jeff, 12, and Tommy, 10. He was born Oct. 6, 1942.

John Hadl, Offensive Coordinator

One of the all-time favorite personalities in the history of the Kansas athletic program, former All-American and all-pro quarterback John Hadl is in charge of the Jayhawks offense.

Hadl, a native of Lawrence, announced his retirement from professional football in February of 1978 to join the KU football staff as its quarterback coach. It brought to an end a brilliant 16-year career that began with what was then an infantile American Football League. He worked the 1978 season under Bud Moore and then was the first assistant named by Don Fambrough when the latter began his second tenure as KU's grid mentor ahead of the 1979 season.

An All-American halfback for Kansas in 1960, Hadl switched to quarterback the next season and also earned All-America honors. He and Gale Sayers are the only two-time All-Americans in KU football history. He was also a three-time All-Big Eight selection and his senior year guided Kansas to a 33-7 victory over Rice in the Bluebonnet Bowl. He still holds school records for longest punt, highest single season punting average and most kickoff return yards in a single game.

Hadl, 40, signed with the then Los Angeles Chargers immediately after the Bluebonnet Bowl game to start what is now regarded as one of the great careers in all of professional football. In addition to the Chargers, who moved to San Diego a year later, Hadl's career included tenures with the Los Angeles Rams, Green Bay Packers and finally the Houston Oilers. He retired ranking as the third leading passer in National Football League history for most yards gained lifetime and most passes attempted lifetime. He ranks fourth in NFL history for most touchdown passes.

All totaled as a professional he completed 2,364 passes in 4,687 attempts for 33,513 yards and 244 touchdowns. That computes to a .504 completion percentage.

He is married to the former Barbara Marshall and has two children — John, 16, and Jackie 14. He was born Feb. 15, 1940.

Don McLeary, Receivers

Don McLeary, now in his third season on the Kansas staff, coaches the Jayhawk receivers. In addition he is in charge of the specialty teams.

The former standout running back at Tennessee joined the KU staff following two seasons as head coach at Ottawa (Kan.) University. He and John Hadl were the only two members of the previous staff retained by Don Fambrough.

McLeary, 32, brought a wide and varied coaching background to KU. He spent the 1976 and 1977 seasons at Ottawa where he took over a program that had not experienced a winning season in four years. He immediately turned it into a winner while producing three N.A.I.A. All-Americans in the process.

Prior to arriving at Ottawa his coaching career had included stops at White Station High School in Memphis, the University of Tennessee and Morehead (Ky.) State University. He served as an assistant at all three locations.

McLeary was an all-state and All-America halfback at North High School in Jackson, Tenn. Highly recruited as a prepster, he chose Tennessee and experienced a similarly impressive career as a collegian. A three-year letterman at running back, he helped the Volunteers claim two Southeast Conference championships and advance to three bowl games.

He earned his bachelor's degree from Tennessee in December of 1970 and a master's three years later.

He is married to the former Mary Carolyn Graves. They have three children — Matt, 10, Stacy, 8, and Holly, 5. He was born Jan. 2, 1948.

Rich Rachel, Defensive Secondary

Now in his second year on the Kansas staff, Rich Rachel coaches the KU secondary. He became a member of Don Fambrough's staff after serving the previous three seasons at Morehead State University in Morehead, Ky.

Rachel brought a highly successful playing and coaching career to Mount Oread. He was a three-year letterman and two-year starter at Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa, after being highly recruited out of Hialeah High School in Miami, Fla. He earned his bachelor's degree from Parsons in 1969 in physical education and history and later, during his tenure at Morehead State, earned a master's in health, physical education and recreation.

Rachel's first coaching job came in 1969 at Chamberlain High School in Tampa, Fla., where he served as head coach of the junior varsity. He remained at Chamberlain through the 1973 season while being elevated to defensive backfield coach, defensive coordinator and finally head coach his last year.

In 1974 he became defensive backfield coach at the University of Tampa and in 1975, after the latter dropped its football program, returned to the prep ranks as defensive backfield coach at King High School in Tampa. He left Tampa the following year for Morehead State.

Rachel served as defensive coordinator his final season at Morehead State. He also tutored the defensive backs and was in charge of recruiting. Prior to his promotion to coordinator he handled strictly the defensive backs.

Rachel is married to the former Bonnie Adams. He was born Sept. 19, 1947, and will celebrate his 33rd birthday the day before the home opener with Pittsburgh.

Kent Stephenson, Offensive Line

The responsibility of rebuilding Kansas' offensive line falls into the hands of Kent Stephenson, now in his second year on the Jayhawk staff.

A native of Anita, Iowa, where he earned 10 prep varsity letters in football, basketball and track, Stephenson has had both an outstanding playing and coaching career. A 1965 graduate of Northern Iowa with a bachelor's degree in physical education and history, he was a three-year letterman for the Panthers at offensive guard earning all-league honors his last two seasons.

Already established as an outstanding line coach, Stephenson stepped up to the Big Eight Conference in 1972 joining Dave Smith's staff at Oklahoma State. He followed Smith the next year to Southern Methodist, also as offensive line coach. He remained in Dallas only a year, however, resigning to become offensive line coach at Iowa. In 1976, his third year on the Hawkeye staff, he was elevated to offensive coordinator.

Stephenson left the Iowa staff after that season to return to Oklahoma State as Jim Stanley's offensive line coach. He remained there until his appointment at Kansas.

While serving at OSU and SMU in 1972 and 1973 respectively, both schools were among the top 10 rushing units in the nation. He coached tackle Rod Walter and guard Joe Devlin at Iowa marking the first time in modern football history that two side-by-side linemen earned first team All-America honors.

While at Wayne State he helped the Wildcats claim two Nebraska Collegiate Conference titles. North Dakota won the North Central Conference championship in 1971, his final season there before moving to Oklahoma State.

Stephenson, 38, received his first taste of success at the collegiate level as a player at Northern Iowa. He captained the Panthers his senior year while helping them win the North Central Conference title in 1964 plus the Pecan Bowl with a triumph over Lamar.

He is married to the former Shirley Symonds. They have two children — Heide, 11, and Kyle, 9. He was born Feb. 4, 1942.

Mike Sweatman, Inside Linebackers

Former Kansas All-Big Eight linebacker Mike Sweatman has returned to his alma mater to coach the Jayhawks inside linebackers. He was one of the first aides appointed by Don Fambrough when the KU head mentor took over Jayhawk grid fortunes for the second time.

Sweatman, 33, had spent the previous two seasons at Tulsa University as linebacker coach. He helped the Golden Hurricane to one of the school's most successful seasons ever in 1978 with a 9-2 record. Soon afterwards he resigned to join the Kansas staff.

Sweatman first came to Kansas following an outstanding prep career at North High School in North Kansas City, Mo. His 341 career tackles stood as a Kansas record for 12 years until last season when free safety Leroy Irvin concluded his career with 347. His 116 stops as a junior ranks as the fourth highest single season total in KU history.

Regarded as the ideal student-athlete while at Kansas, Sweatman captained the Jayhawks his senior year as KU posted a 5-2 Big Eight mark (5-5 overall), good for second place. He was a first team all-conference choice both as a junior and senior and was also an Academic All-American his final year.

A 1968 graduate of Kansas, Mike remained on Mount Oread the following fall and served as a graduate assistant for a KU team that tied for the Big Eight championship and advanced to the Orange Bowl against Penn State.

In 1969 he began four years of active duty with the Marine Corps. Recently he was selected for a promotion to the rank of major.

Sweatman returned to KU for the 1973 and 1974 seasons as an assistant while completing work on his master's degree. He coached the defensive ends. He spent the 1975 and 1976 seasons at Coffeyville (Kan.) Junior College under former KU assistant Dick Foster.

Ivy Williams, Running Backs

Ivy Williams is in his second year as coach of the Jayhawks running backs having come to Kansas following a year's stay at New Mexico State.

The former standout running back and receiver at Xavier of Ohio was no stranger to the Sunflower State upon being named by Don Fambrough. Prior to his brief stint at New Mexico State he had spent three years at Kansas State as the Wildcats' offensive backfield coach.

Williams was a highly recruited prepster following a superb career at John Carroll High School in Ft. Pierce, Fla. He was a prep All-America running back and earned three varsity letters in both football and basketball. He selected Xavier and lettered three years for the Musketeers playing fullback, tailback and flanker. He captained the team his senior year while leading it in both scoring and pass receiving.

Williams, who will turn 31 the day before freshmen orientation begins, is a 1971 graduate of Xavier with a bachelor's degree in economics and physical education. He began his coaching career in 1972 at the Cincinnati school as a graduate assistant while earning a master's degree in education.

He took his first fulltime coaching job at the collegiate level in 1973 as receivers coach at Bowling Green. A year later he became offensive backfield coach at Marshall in Huntington, W. Va., before moving to Kansas State in 1975. He remained at K-State for three years before moving to New Mexico State.

Williams is married to the former Barbara Washington. He was born Aug. 12, 1949.

Bruce DeHaven, Assistant Coach

Now in his second year as a member of Don Fambrough's staff, Bruce DeHaven splits his time between coaching and administrative responsibilities associated with the Jayhawks' recruiting program.

The five seasons prior to his arrival at KU, 1974 through 1978, DeHaven had served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator at Wichita Southeast High School under Jim Davies and Dennis Cavalier. During that time the Buffaloes won three state championships, finished second twice and logged a cumulative won-loss record of 52-4. He also tutored Southeast's junior varsity during that span compiling a perfect 36-0 record.

Under his guidance Southeast also led Wichita City League defensive statistics four of five years and established a league record in 1975 for total defense.

DeHaven is a 1970 graduate of Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan., with a bachelor's degree in political science. He played four years of basketball for the Builders leading them in scoring his final two years.

He began his football coaching career at Oxford (Kan.) High School where in three years he compiled a 19-8 record. He left Oxford following the 1973-74 school year to join the staff at Southeast.

DeHaven is a 1966 graduate of Belpre-Trousdale (Kan.) High School. He was born Sept. 6, 1948, and will celebrate his 32nd birthday exactly one week prior to the Jayhawks' season opener against Oregon.

Al Woolard, Assistant Coach

The most successful high school football coach in this nation's history, Al Woolard came out of retirement in 1979 to join Don Fambrough's staff. Now in his second season, Woolard's efforts will continue to center on the Jayhawks' recruiting program.

Woolard's remarkable career as a high school football coach began in his hometown of Edna, Kan., where in two seasons he compiled a 25-2 mark. He then moved to Commerce, Okla., posting a 10-year record of 72-13-3. From there it was on to Nowata, Okla., where in three years he compiled a 13-12-5 record.

He then made his last move and that was to Lawrence where, beginning in 1950, he was to dominate the Kansas high school ranks for the next 19 seasons. When he finally stepped down at the conclusion of the 1968 season to concentrate strictly on his duties as director of athletics at Lawrence High School, he had amassed a record of 154-11-5 including 12 state championships and an unparalleled 47-game winning streak.

That brought his career coaching record in the prep grid ranks to 264-38-13, an .859 winning percentage. No other high school football coach in the country has ever retired with that high a winning percentage. At the time of his retirement the victory total was the second highest ever achieved by a high school coach.

Woolard began his additional responsibilities of athletic director in 1954 and continued until his complete retirement in 1976.

Woolard's honors comprise a lengthy list. Included are being named the national high school coach-of-the-year once and the Kansas prep coach-of-the-year three times. His Lawrence High teams were featured in both Look and Sports Illustrated magazines. He also produced 21 prep All-Americans and 35 all-state selections including current KU offensive coordinator John Hadl and Olympic shot put champion Bill Nieder at Lawrence, and former New York Yankee great Mickey Mantle at Commerce.

A 1934 graduate of Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan., Woolard is married to the former Jean Smith. Woolard, 69, was born Dec. 29, 1910.

Mike Hill, Equipment Manager

A native of Lawrence and long associated with sports in the community, Mike Hill serves as the Jayhawks equipment manager.

Now in his second year with the athletic department, Hill was by no means a stranger when he began his present duties. He had spent the previous 12 years on the staff of the KU Police Department and was serving as chief of the department when he stepped down to accept the athletic department offer.

In 1976 he was named the community's Outstanding Young Law Enforcement Officer by the Lawrence Jaycees.

Dean Nesmith, Head Trainer

Truly one of the most respected personalities in the entire history of the athletic program at Kansas, the 1980 season will mark the 43rd year that Dean Nesmith has served as the Jayhawks head trainer. Also regarded nationwide as one of the country's most respected athletic trainers, his tenure is tops among Big Eight Conference trainers.

It was 48 years ago this fall that Nesmith first came to KU from Belleville, Kan., and reported for freshman football. He's been at Kansas ever since except for a brief fling at professional football with the old New York Yankees during the 1936 season.

Nesmith lettered at tackle on Jayhawk football teams of 1933-34-35 and the next season joined the Yankees. He was back on campus in the fall of 1937 to finish his degree and work as a student trainer under Elwyn Dees. When Dees resigned following spring practice in 1938 to accept a similar job at Oklahoma State the post was given to Nesmith. He has had it ever since.

"Deaner," as he is affectionately known by KU athletes past and present, can spin countless yarns about Jayhawk heroes of the past. While at Kansas he has ministered to some of the world's greatest athletes, a list that would include such notables as Gale Sayers, Glenn Cunningham, Wilt Chamberlain, Ray Evans, Jim Ryun, Clyde Lovellette, Al Oerter, John Hadl, Jo Jo White, Bill Nieder, Wes Santee and countless others.

He was honored last football season by the K-Club, KU's letterman club, for his years of dedicated service and was presented a one-of-a-kind ring to commemorate his service.

In 1952-53 Nesmith was chairman of the board of the National Collegiate Trainers Association. In 1960 he served as trainer for the United States Olympic basketball team at Rome. In the summer of 1974 he served as trainer for a Big Eight Conference all-star basketball team that toured Yugoslavia. In 1971 he was elected into the Helms Hall of Fame for athletic trainers.

The medical profession in the Nesmith family does not stop with Dean. His wife, Eileen, was formerly director of nurses at Watkins Hospital, the KU student health center. His son, Les, is an ophthalmologist in Wichita and his daughter, Mrs. John Mohn of Great Bend, Kan., is a graduate of the KU School of Nursing.

Nesmith, 66, was born Feb. 11, 1914.

Lynn Bott, Assistant Trainer

Lynn Bott is now in his fifth year on the Kansas staff. He serves as assistant trainer for football and head trainer for all other sports including basketball.

He then left for Tucson upon receiving an internship in physical education with specialization in athletic training. While there he was also named head trainer at Palo Verde High School. He was offered the Kansas position near the completion of the internship.

Bott received his master's degree from Arizona in the summer of 1976. In addition he is a Certified Athletic Trainer, a Nationally Registered Emergency Medical Technician and a Kansas Certified Emergency Medical Technician.

Bott, 26, grew up in Kansas and graduated from Dighton High School, in the western part of the state, in 1971.

Player Profiles

Upperclassmen In Alphabetical Order

68 PAT BARNETT Offensive Guard
Freshman 6-4 230 19 Pittsburg, Kan.

A sophomore in academic standing, Barnett is in his first season of eligibility after missing last season because of a shoulder injury suffered in the Kansas Shrine All-Star Game. That game was in the early summer following his senior year at Pittsburg. He recuperated in time to take part in spring drills and concluded the off-season workouts listed as the No. 2 right guard behind veteran Fred Osborn . . . "He's a very fine athlete who worked extremely hard this past spring," Coach Don Fambrough says. "I think he has a chance to be a quality offensive lineman for us during the next four years. I know at this point I sure like what I see in him" . . . Pat started both ways in high school leading Pittsburg to unbeaten league records and consecutive state playoff berths his junior and senior seasons. Pittsburg won 17 straight games during one stretch of the three years he lettered . . . As a defensive tackle he made 58 stops his senior year despite opposing offenses generally running to the opposite side. He also had 11 sacks that year and three fumble recoveries . . . Also following his senior year he earned first team all-state by the Topeka Capital-Journal and the Wichita Eagle-Beacon (top 11 teams for both newspapers). The Kansas City Star named him honorable mention all-state . . . Pat also earned first team all-league his senior year on both offense and defense. He was later named to play in the annual Kansas Shrine All-Star Game which, as mentioned above, resulted in the shoulder injury that delayed the start of his collegiate career . . . His prep accomplishments were not limited to the playing field. He was also a straight-A student at Pittsburg High School and was a member of National Honor Society . . . 23 RUSS BASTIN Flanker
Sophomore 6-2 205 20 Emporia, Kan.

Barring the unforeseen Bastin appears destined to become one of the premier pass receivers in the Big Eight Conference. Nothing in his collegiate career to date, save for a hamstring injury that forced him to sit out the 1979 season, has indicated anything otherwise . . . "He has everything you look for," Coach Don Fambrough says. "Unless it would be David Verser I don't believe there is another receiver in the league as sure-handed as Russ. He's a very smart football player with great hands and unbelievable concentration. If the ball is in the area and there is anyway possible he can get to it I know he'll catch it" . . . Bastin lettered two years ago as a freshman finishing that season with eight catches good for 80 yards and one touchdown. His top performance came against Nebraska with four receptions for 39 yards and one touchdown (from Kevin Clinton). His longest reception at this early point in his career is 13 yards, also against Nebraska and also from Kevin Clinton . . . Russ actually began his freshman season as a tight end but midway through was moved to wide receiver . . . He used his inactivity period last fall concentrating on the Jayhawk weight program and now weighs 15 pounds more than he did as a freshman . . . Bastin was one of the country's most highly recruited receivers following a brilliant career at Emporia High School. A consensus all-state selection both his junior and senior seasons, he was a prep All-American by both Scholastic Magazine and the National High School Coaches Association . . . He finished his career with 87 receptions good for 1,490 yards and 17 touchdowns. His best year statistically was actually his junior season. That's easily attributable to the fact that Emporia's quarterback that year was Steve Smith who enters fall drills listed as the Jayhawks' No. 2 signal caller. The pair formed a nearly unstoppable passing attack and was largely responsible for Emporia finishing the year with a 12-0 record and the Class 4-A state championship. Russ hauled in 41 of Smith's aerials that year gaining 590 yards and scoring nine touchdowns . . . As a senior he was called on to fill a variety of responsibilities. He caught 27 passes for 544 yards, rushed for another

The outlook, however, is optimistic for the veteran center who is being heavily counted on to anchor the Jayhawks' offensive line with much needed depth . . . The operation was successful and, after sitting out spring drills, it is hoped that he will return to the same form of 1979 prior to the Oklahoma game . . . Ed sat out the 1978 season after an off-season foot injury required several months of rehabilitation. The 1979 season, aside from his rookie year in 1977 when he played offensive guard for the junior varsity, has been the only campaign to date that has seen him log considerable playing time . . . "We're optimistic that his injury problems are over," Coach Fambrough says. "He played well for us last year leading up to the Oklahoma game. It's important that he be healthy this year" . . .

"I was tremendously pleased with what I saw from Brad Butts this past spring," Coach Fambrough says. "He ran hard and with determination every day. Don't count him out. I'll be surprised if he doesn't play a lot of football for us before his career is over" . . . Included in his impressive spring performance was one 100-plus rushing performance in a controlled scrimmage . . . The 1980 season will actually be Brad's third at Kansas. He also had two behind the line-of-scrimmage resulting in 12 yards lost for enemy ball carriers and recovered one fumble . . . He had six tackles, two of which were unassisted, in brief appearances with the varsity in 1979. His single game tackle high in this early stage of his career is three against Nebraska . . . Gary was a consensus all-state selection at defensive end his senior year at Lawrence, a season that saw the Lions lose to Wichita Southeast in the state championship game. He also played some at running back to help Lawrence to state playoff berths both his junior and senior seasons, a span that saw it post a 17-5 record . . . As a senior Coleman averaged 14 tackles a game and led Lawrence in quarterback sacks. He averaged 7.2 yards per carry his junior year while gaining 292 yards on only 39 carries. As a senior he gained 389 yards on 83 carries, a 4.7 average, and scored seven touchdowns . . . He was also tabbed by the Big Eight Magazine for its Top 20 prospects list . . . An All-Sunflower League selection his senior year, he was also chosen to play in the 1979 Kansas Shrine Bowl All-Star Game . . . Gary was born Jan. 12, 1961.

One of eight freshmen to letter in 1979, Davis returns to fullback after late in his rookie year being switched from that position to wide receiver. Regarded as both a quality runner and receiver, Davis rushed for 40 yards a year ago in 15 carries before moving to a wideout position. As a receiver he had six catches for 67 yards and one touchdown. The touchdown reception was from 11 yards out against Syracuse . . . Tim was returned to fullback at the start of spring practice and remained there throughout the off-season workouts. He concluded the spring as the No. 3 fullback behind seniors Harry Sydney and Larry Kemp . . . Tim's best rushing output last year was against Syracuse with 27 yards in seven carries. That was also his best performance as a receiver with three grabs for 44 yards and the above mentioned TD . . . Tim also logged playing time in 1979 with the junior varsity. He finished as the team's No. 2 rusher behind Brent McCune with 76 yards on 13 carries . . . Davis was a three-year letterman and standout performer at Hinkley High School in Aurora, a suburb of Denver. His senior year he rushed for 820 yards on 180 attempts (4.6 average per carry), caught 22 passes for 340 yards and completed three of four passes for another 77 yards. He also scored eight touchdowns . . . Tim established himself as one of the team's most versatile performers. He also played in the defensive secondary, returned kickoffs and punts and handled Hinkley's punting chores. His senior year he averaged 18.3 yards per kickoff return, 4.3 yards per punt return and 34.5 yards per punt. He also holds the school record for longest kickoff return — 88 yards . . . As a junior Tim rushed for 243 yards on 52 carries . . . Following his senior year he was named the city's most outstanding performer, was honorable mention all-state and all-league. It was the second straight year that he earned all-league honors. Tim was also an honorable mention prep All-American by Coach and Athlete Magazine and was an all-area choice by the Big Eight Magazine . . . Hinkley's team captain his senior year, Tim was also named to the South team in the state's prep all-star game . . . Representing nearly all of the Jayhawks' experience at outside linebacker, Dawson is regarded as a key if Kansas is to be substantially improved defensively. Last year, his first after transferring from Compton (Calif.) Junior College, Hilton played behind the veteran and now graduated Jim Zidd. He graduated into the No. 1 position this past spring and played well . . . "Hilton has fine potential," Coach Fambrough says. "He is quick and strong and has good reactions. It's very important

He also recovered one fumble, it coming against North Texas State. His best tackle output was against Oklahoma when he was credited with 10, half of which were unassisted . . . As a sophomore at Compton Junior College two years ago Hilton averaged 15 tackles a game and was a first team all-conference selection. After being red-shirted in his initial season (1978), Evans was one of eight freshmen to earn varsity letters in 1979 while playing in a backup role in the KU secondary. Evans logged five tackles in his rookie year with a single game high of three against Nebraska . . . At Rockhurst High School in Kansas City, Ray played both quarterback and safety. As a senior he captained the Hawks while completing 29 of 101 passes for 448 yards and four touchdowns. He rushed for 30 more plus one touchdown . . . As a junior he carried just five times but made the most of them gaining 124 yards with two touchdowns . . . Defensively he had three career pass interceptions . . . Evans was an honorable mention All-Metro pick his senior year by the Kansas City Star . . . He was also an honor student at Rockhurst never receiving less than 3.5 grade-point-average on a 4.0 scale . . . Kansas won the 300th game of its football history on Nov. 1, 1952, with a 26-6 victory over Kansas State in Manhattan. It won the 400th game on Nov. 1, 1975 (exactly 23 years later) with a 28-0 victory over Kansas State in Lawrence.

Bob Fiss, senior from Shawnee Mission (Kan.) South, again figures to be Kansas' No. 1 center in 1980. Fiss came to KU four years ago without a scholarship but has earned two letters while playing in every game the last two seasons.

Senior 6-3 250 21 Shawnee Mission, Kan.

A walk-on four years ago out of Shawnee Mission South, Fiss matured and developed faster than anyone anticipated and now goes into his senior year regarded as one of the Big Eight's best centers . . . A two-year letterman, Fiss served as Mike Wellman's backup (Wellman is now with the Green Bay Packers) as a sophomore before last year taking over the No. 1 position. He has proven to be a durable performer having never missed a game due to injury . . . Bob was an All-Sunflower League selection at South following his senior year in 1976. He earned honorable mention All-Metro by the Kansas City Star. Despite good size, speed and strength he wasn't that actively recruited and selected KU primarily because of his family background. His father, Galen, was an all-conference fullback at Kansas in 1952. He later became team captain for the Cleveland Browns (along with another KU great — Mike McCormack who now is head coach of the Baltimore Colts) while playing at linebacker . . . Bob has developed right out of his father's mold. "I wouldn't trade him for another center in the league," Coach Fambrough says. "You just can't ask anything more from him. He's a fine athlete with the intelligence and dedication that make him a winner" . . . Bob was born March 22, 1959.

ROGER FOOTE

Free Safety

Sophomore 6-3 205 20 Peabody, Kan.

After missing last season because of a badly pulled hamstring, Foote is set to go again and becomes an integral part of the Jayhawks' defensive scheme . . . Highly regarded after coming out of Peabody-Burns High School in Peabody, Foote lettered as a freshman in 1978 while logging 43 tackles and recovering one fumble. His top tackling outputs came against Missouri with 13 and Nebraska with 12 . . . His fumble recovery that season proved to be more than slightly significant. It came against UCLA setting up a Kansas touchdown that eventually let the Jayhawks escape with a 28-24 victory over the Bruins . . . Roger actually started the final three games of the 1978 season at strong safety (now Hawk in the terminology of the Fambrough staff) after beginning that season as a free safety . . . Foote appeared this past spring to be fully recovered from the hamstring pull and will now enter fall drills listed as the No. 2 free safety behind Robert Gentry . . . Foote's prep career bordered on being legendary. An All-American by Scholastic Coach Magazine and Coach and Athlete Magazine in addition to the National High School Coaches Association, he was also consensus all-state, all-class and all-league . . . The Wichita Eagle-Beacon selected him as the Class 2-A player-of-the-year in 1977 and he concluded his prep career with a sterling performance in the Shrine Bowl All-Star Game. In that contest he merely intercepted two passes before taking over at quarterback to complete three of five passes while leading the East to a 34-0 triumph . . . Roger also led Peabody-Burns to the Class 2-A championship game his senior year while completing 214 of 400 passes for 2,826 yards and 31 touchdowns over a three-year career. During that time Peabody-Burns logged a 30-3 record . . . He passed for more than 1,000 yards both as a sophomore and a senior and would have probably done it as a junior too had it not been for a broken arm that sidelined him through part of the season . . . On the ground he rushed 250 times in his career for 1,276 yards and another 31 touchdowns. His best single season rushing effort came as a senior with 504 yards and 14 touchdowns on 110 attempts . . . Defensively Roger finished his career with 272 tackles (113 unassisted), nine fumble recoveries and 15 pass interceptions . . . He captained both the football and basketball teams his senior year and also lettered in track . . . An uncle, Hoyt Baker, was a member of KU's 1948 Orange Bowl team (which Don Fambrough co-captained) . . . Roger was born Dec. 14, 1959.

Coming to Kansas a year ago from Pierce Junior College in Los Angeles, Fox was probably the Jayhawks' best down defensive lineman a year ago before going down with a knee injury in the Oklahoma State game. Surgery was required and it is now felt that he'll return in 1980 completely recovered . . . Last year Jeff actually played at 260 but by the conclusion of spring drills was 15 pounds off that weight. He is expected to play this year closer to 260 than his listed 245 . . . "The return of Jeff Fox is vitally important to us," Coach Fambrough says. "We were not the same football team last year after his injury. Just as important he's an excellent leader. He gives us leadership both on and off the field. I can't emphasize enough what he means to our football team" . . . Jeff concluded the 1979 season with 38 tackles, 21 of which were solos and two of which were behind the line-of-scrimmage. His top tackle output was eight coming against both Michigan and Syracuse . . . At Pierce Junior College he played at both nose guard and defensive tackle. He earned honorable mention All-America honors his sophomore year while captaining the team and helping it establish a 10-1 record. His performance earned him the squad's most outstanding performer award . . . Fox was highly recruited out of LaCresenta Valley High School and actually played his freshman year at Colorado (ironically defensive coordinator Tom Batta was on the Colorado staff at the time) before transferring to Pierce . . . Jeff captained his high school team both as a junior and senior. As a senior he earned all-conference honors while helping the team to a league championship with a 9-2 record . . . Fox teamed both in high school and junior college with Mike Kennaw, KU's No. 2 tight end going into fall drills . . . After playing fullback the first two years of his career at KU, Friess switched to defense this past spring and now is listed at Hawk (strong safety). He enters fall drills amidst considerable competition at the position which includes lettermen Frank Wattelet and Ray Evans . . . Friess lettered as a freshman after rushing for 49 yards on 14 carries. He also caught seven passes for another 44 yards . . . Tim spent the 1979 season primarily with KU's junior varsity. He finished as the team's No. 3 rusher behind Brent McCune and Tim Davis with 47 yards on 10 carries . . . Tim was a top javelin thrower for the Jayhawk track team last spring, and finished fourth at the Big Eight Outdoor with a throw of 228-2 . . . He came to Kansas following a brilliant prep career at Lyons. A three-year letterman, he did it all playing quarterback, fullback, linebacker and safety. As a quarterback (sophomore and junior seasons) he completed 129 of 303 passes for 1,453 yards and 14 touchdowns. He switched to fullback as a senior and rushed for 924 yards on 169 carries (a 5.5 average per attempt) and scored eight touchdowns. He also caught 17 passes that season for another 198 yards . . . As a three-year starter on defense Tim finished his career with 203 unassisted tackles and 144 assisted stops for a combined total of 347. He also recovered four fumbles and intercepted five passes . . . Friess served as team captain both his junior and senior years and was an all-state selection in Class 2-A his final year. He also captained the basketball team as a senior and in track had one of the state's best javelin tosses that year with a best of 216-10 . . . Tim was born June 1, 1960.

Senior 6-0 260 23 Savannah, Ga.

The leading tackler for Kansas last year among down linemen, Gardner figures to rank as a strong candidate for all-conference honors in 1980 . . . A transfer two years ago from the College of the Canyons in Valencia, Calif., Gardner made an immediate impact starting every game in 1979. He finished the season with 82 tackles (fifth highest total on the squad), 47 of which were unassisted. carriers. In addition Stanley blocked one point-after attempt, recovered a fumble (against Michigan) and broke up one pass . . . Gardner's top tackle output in 1979 was 11 recorded first against Nebraska and equaled two weeks later against Oklahoma State . . . Two years ago Gardner was among the nation's most highly sought junior college prospects. At College of the Canyons he twice was selected all-conference and his sophomore season saw him earn second team All-America honors. That season saw him log 87 tackles including 17 behind the line-of-scrimmage. He also recovered four fumbles and blocked a pair of kicks . . . Stanley was an all-state selection his senior year at Savannah (Ga.) High School . . . He has also been an accomplished performer in track as a shot putter beginning at Savannah and continuing through his junior college career and his KU days. He lettered in track during his first semester at Kansas (spring of 1979) and placed fifth in the shot put at the 1979 Big Eight Conference indoor meet . . . Stanley was born June 21, 1957.

A transfer from Purdue, Gebert is hopeful of providing additional strength to the Kansas quarterback ranks . . . Big and strong with a rifle-like arm, Gebert was highly recruited after a sensational prep career at Kapaun-Mt. Carmel High School. His senior year (1976 season) saw him complete 93 of 161 passes for 1,789 yards and 16 touchdowns while leading Kapaun-Mt. Carmel to a perfect 13-0 record and the state championship. That performance earned him second team prep All-America honors in addition to being consensus all-state and All-City League . . . Chris chose Purdue following an intense recruiting battle for his services. In 1977 he was one of two sensational freshmen quarterbacks in the Boilermaker camp. The other was Mark Herrmann who has since become an All-American. As a freshman Chris directed the Purdue jayvee team to a 2-2-1 record while completing 24 of 52 passes for 241 yards. He also saw some varsity action completing two of three passes for 37 yards . . . Chris comes from an athletically-inclined family. His brother, Steve, is a former member of the Kansas golf team. His father, Jack, played football at Stanford and his grandfather, A. J. Gebert, played football at Notre Dame . . . A highly regarded prospect since setting foot on Mount Oread two years ago, Gentry hopes his outstanding potential will finally realize fruition in 1980 . . . As a freshman in 1978 he wasted little time before earning a starting position in the KU secondary making his initial start against Miami in the season's fourth game. The game before, against UCLA, he logged seven tackles including six solo hits and an interception on the game's final play that sealed KU's 28-24 triumph. Bad luck was about to set in, however, as early in the Miami game he broke an ankle shelving him for the season's remainder. The Kansas staff then decided to redshirt him last season thus further delaying the resumption of his career. He gave every indication this past spring that he's completely ready and will now go into fall drills listed as the No. 1 free safety . . . "Robert has excellent potential," Coach Fambrough says. "He's a fine athlete who has the tools to be an exceptional defensive back. We're hopeful he'll continue to improve from the spring" . . . Robert's high school coach at Hot Springs, Ark., Bobby Hannon, has described him as "the best athlete I've ever coached in more than 20 years at Hot Springs" . . . At Hot Springs he was a first team all-state selection his senior year. The Arkansas Gazette named him to its "Super 11" team. That unit also featured Joe McCraney, now a junior noseguard for the Jayhawks. Robert was also an all-league and all-district choice that season . . . At Hot Springs Gentry teamed with J. C. Booker, another current KU defensive back, on teams that posted 8-3, 9-2 (state runnerups) and 9-1 records during their varsity careers. Robert did it all playing quarterback and tight end in addition to the defensive secondary. At quarterback he hit 26 of 56 passes for 288 yards and two touchdowns (senior year). At tight end (also senior year) he caught 33 passes for 290 yards and three touchdowns . . . His athletic achievements in high school didn't stop on the gridiron. "Just as he was making good progress last year he got hurt. But he's worked very hard to come back and we're hopeful he can do so. We're anxious to see how he looks in the early drills" . . . A prominent fixture in the Kansas defensive secondary in seasons past, Harris sat out last year to recuperate from an ankle injury and now, a year later, will look ahead to his senior year. His return is a welcome addition for the Kansas staff and he'll enter fall drills listed as a No. 2 cornerback behind veteran Joe Tumpich . . . Dave's best season to date was two years ago (1978 season) when he lettered while recording exactly 50 tackles. His career tackle high came that season when he logged 12 (including six solos) against Iowa State. He also recovered a fumble that year (against Oklahoma) and blocked a field goal (against Oklahoma State) . . . Harris probably would have lettered the year before as a sophomore had it not been for a hamstring injury that caused him to miss most of the season . . . "We are very hopeful that Dave can have an injury-free season," Coach Fambrough says. "He's a good, solid athlete with the intelligence to be a very complete player. The secondary is one area where we need considerable improvement. If he stays healthy Dave should play a big part in that" . . . Harris had an outstanding prep career at tiny Fowler, Kan., in the southwest corner of the state. His senior year he earned first team all-state by the Wichita Eagle-Beacon and Kansas City Star and second team all-state by the Topeka Capital-Journal . . . That season saw him rush for 1,475 yards on 160 carries while barely playing a half of each game. He scored 17 touchdowns and carried a 38.1 punting average . . . As a junior he rushed for just under 1,000 yards . . . Defensively he played cornerback and led the team in tackles both as a junior and as a senior . . . Dave was also an outstanding track man in high school winning the state small school indoor long jump both as a junior and as a senior. In addition he won the outdoor long jump at the state meet as a junior and the 180-yard low hurdles as a senior at the same meet . . . The Kansas staff had a collective sigh of relief going into fall drills with the news that Haus should be at full speed after a knee injury suffered in spring practice put a question mark over his availability. The injury came late in spring practice and initially was feared to be a ligament tear. It was only a strain, however, and a summer rehabilitation program has restored it to full strength . . . "We were so fortunate in the spring," Coach Fambrough says, "to have very few injuries. Losing Joe would have been a tremendous blow for our football team. Thank goodness he'll be back to full speed" . . . Haus enjoyed a superb spring and will open fall drills listed on the No. 2 unit behind Mark Wilbers. With two letters already to his credit he provides good depth and experience in the defensive front wall . . . Joe lettered as a freshman while playing primarily on specialty teams. He lettered again last fall while playing primarily in a backup role at defensive tackle . . . Joe was a four-year letterman at Lee's Summit High School. He was named all-league both as a junior and senior. Gale Sayers' 99-yard touchdown run against Nebraska in 1963 still ranks as the NCAA record for longest run from scrimmage. Three others — Max Anderson of Arizona State against Wyoming in 1967, Ralph Thompson of West Texas State against Wichita State in 1970 and Kelsey Finch of Tennessee against Florida in 1977 — have since tied the mark. Dave Jaynes' 35 pass completions (in 58 attempts for 394 yards) against Tennessee in 1973 ranks as the fifth highest total in the history of NCAA football. And John Hadl's 94-yard punt against Oklahoma in 1959 still ranks as the third longest in NCAA history (the longest was 99 yards by Pat Brady of Nevada-Reno in 1950 against Loyola of California). He enjoyed a fine spring practice and now will open fall drills listed as the No. 3 wide receiver behind David Verser and Wayne Capers . . . Jeff came to Kansas highly recruited after a sensational prep career at Arapahoe High School in Littleton. He wasted little time making an impression starting six games his rookie year finishing the campaign with exactly 150 yards rushing and another 47 passing. He again assumed the quarterback duties at the start of his sophomore year but was slowed by a knee injury paving the way for Harry Sydney to take over the signal calling duties . . . His career rushing stats read 210 yards on 146 attempts giving him 647 yards of career total yardage . . . A transfer from Wichita State, Horn sat out last season while regaining his eligibility but now figures prominently in the Jayhawks' plans. He'll open fall drills listed on the No. 2 unit behind all-conference candidate Chris Toburen . . . Horn left little doubt by the conclusion of spring practice that he'll see considerable playing time this fall. He concluded the off-season drills by making nine solo tackles (high for both teams) in the annual spring intra-squad game . . . "I'll tell you this for sure," Coach Fambrough says. "If Bryan Horn isn't starting for us I'll know we have one heck of a linebacker in front of him. He's intelligent, he's dedicated, he works hard and he'll stick you. We're pleased as we can be that he decided to transfer to KU" . . . Horn prepped at Pratt High School where his senior year he was credited with 93 tackles including 50 unassisted stops. He also recovered five fumbles and returned a pass interception for a touchdown helping the Greenbacks post an 8-1 record and win the league championship. Bryan chose Wichita State initially where he was a part-time starter as a freshman at linebacker and a fulltime starter his sophomore season (1978) . . . As a freshman he had 27 tackles for the Shockers including 16 solos. In addition he was credited with four pass deflections and one week was named the defender-of-the-week in the Missouri Valley . . . Bryan was born June 13, 1959.

Kansas and Missouri will meet this year for the 89th time. That makes it the oldest college football rivalry west of the Mississippi River. The Tigers hold a slim 41-38-9 edge in the ancient series.

One of only three three-year lettermen on the Kansas squad (David Verser and Scellars Young, also from St. Louis, are the other two), Kyles enters fall drills coming off an outstanding spring practice. He is set to open drills listed as a No. 2 offensive guard behind David Lawrence . . . "Gus played very well for us this past spring," Coach Fambrough says. After starting his career at Kansas as a tight end, Lawrence has since been moved to offensive guard and is now regarded by the KU staff as being one of the Jayhawks' top offensive linemen . . . "David just simply was tremendous this past spring," Coach Fambrough says. "He has worked so hard and has been so dedicated to becoming the best player he possibly can be. I'm very pleased with his effort and continued improvement. I think he has a chance of becoming one of the Big Eight's best offensive guards" . . . David actually made the switch to offensive guard soon after the start of last season. As a freshman in 1977 he lettered at tight end although he did not catch a pass (he was used primarily in double tight end situations for blocking purposes). He was red-shirted in 1978 and began last season listed as the No. 3 tight end. As a senior Parsons shared the league crown and advanced to the quarter-finals of the state championship playoffs . . . David was born Nov. 11, 1958, and will celebrate his 22nd birthday on Tuesday prior to the Colorado game.

A well-rounded athlete, he earned three varsity football letters at Rockhurst plus three varsity letters in both basketball and track . . . Bill's freshman year at KU was the 1976 season. WALTER MACK

Tailback

Junior 5-10 185 21 San Francisco, Calif.

Coming off a superb spring practice, Mack enters fall drills listed as the Jayhawks' No. 1 tailback. The No. 3 rusher for Kansas last year, the speedy and lightning quick runner figures to be a key part in the KU puzzle for 1980 . . . "He's coming off a great performance this past spring," Coach Fambrough says. "I think last year was somewhat frustrating for him. But if what I saw in the spring is a true indication of his abilities I'm telling you look out. He has a chance to be a great one" . . . Mack's frustrations in 1979 stem from an ankle injury in the Iowa State game. At first it was not believed to be serious but Walter did not regain full speed until late in the year. He finished the season with 257 yards rushing on 72 attempts. His best single game output in 1979 was 124 yards and one touchdown in 20 carries against North Texas State. He came back the next week with his second best effort — 54 yards and one touchdown in 19 carries against Syracuse. Two weeks later he suffered the injury . . . Walter came to Kansas from City College in San Francisco where in 1978 he led the team to a 7-2-1 record, its best mark since the years of O. J. He was the state wrestling champion his senior year at 185 pounds and played both fullback and defensive end for Bill Freeman's football team. He was a first team All-Sunflower League selection his senior year on defense . . . Ken was born Feb. 5, 1959.

McNeely emerged from complete obscurity as a freshman two years ago to his present position of being a vital cog in KU's defensive secondary machine. Tony was better known on the basketball court (two letters) and the track (three letters) at Sumner High School in Kansas City. In fact he didn't even letter in football until his senior year when he earned honorable mention all-league honors . . . Tony received no major college scholarship offers but walked-on at KU and, by the end of his freshman season in 1978, was nearly a starter. He made an immediate impression on the KU staff with his willingness to hit plus his speed (22.6 in the 220 and 49.9 in the 440). He finished his rookie year with three unassisted tackles and even scored a touchdown when he recovered a blocked punt against Kansas State in the endzone . . . Topeka, Kan.

McNorton may have been Kansas' top inside linebacker a year ago when he suffered a knee injury against Oklahoma prematurely ending his season . . . "I know we weren't the same team without him," Coach Fambrough says. "He's a heck of a football player. He not only has the physical talents but he's an intelligent player as well. I sure hope we can have him for the entire season this year" . . . Kyle actually had surgery twice last year on the same leg. In addition to the knee surgery he also had ankle surgery to correct an earlier problem. Reports from team doctors give him a clean bill of health and, after sitting out spring practice, will enter fall drills listed as a No. 2 inside linebacker behind Scellars Young . . . McNorton actually took over a starting position late in his rookie season (1978) and finished that campaign with 32 tackles. Included was a season tackle high performance of 15 (14 were unassisted) against Missouri. That was the next-to-last game of the season and he immediately followed it with nine stops against Kansas State. He also blocked a punt in the Kansas State game that was recovered in the endzone by Tony McNeely for a Kansas touchdown . . . Kyle took up in 1979 where he left off in 1978 finishing the season with 85 tackles, the second highest total among KU's inside linebackers. Leading up to and including the Oklahoma game (when the injury occurred) he had five straight games in which he had 12 tackles or more. Included was a career high 17 against Kansas State (nine solos) to help the Jayhawk post a 36-28 victory . . . McNorton's emergence as one of the Big Eight's best linebackers has caught most observers by surprise as he was not that heavily recruited out of high school. He was an honorable mention all-state pick as a senior at Seaman High School in Topeka but began to show better-than-average potential when he had a game high 12 tackles to help the East shutout the West, 34-0, in the Kansas Shrine Bowl All-Star Game the summer after his senior year . . . Kyle played both fullback and linebacker in high school. During his final two years he rushed for 1,146 yards picking up 549 with six touchdowns in 96 attempts as a junior and 597 with 10 touchdowns in 141 carries as a senior . . . He was better established on defense where he had three straight 100-plus tackle seasons. Included were 113 stops as a sophomore, 122 as a junior and 121 his final year. His career total of 356 included 91 solos. He also recovered five fumbles during his prep career and had six interceptions . . . Kyle was an all-city selection as a senior in addition to being a second team Class 4-A choice. He also earned all league both as a junior and as a senior . . . Kyle was born May 20, 1960.

Kyle McNorton (81) may have been the Jayhawks' best inside linebacker last season when a knee injury against Oklahoma put a premature end to his season. He is expected to be fully recovered for the 1980 season.

Kansas City, Mo.

Largely because of injuries, Mehrer was forced into varsity action as a freshman last season but responded well finishing the campaign with 19 tackles including a career-high 13 against Colorado in the next-to-last game of the season. He sat out spring practice after having a knee scoped but is expected to be completely healthy for the start of fall drills . . . Dave also saw considerable action for the Kansas junior varsity squad in 1979 finishing the season with 25 tackles, tops among the jayvee inside linebackers . . . Mehrer came to Kansas from Hickman Mills High School in Kansas City. He played both linebacker and offensive tackle for teams that posted a combined 17-4 record his junior and senior years including a 10-1 mark his final season . . . As a senior Dave averaged 19 tackles. That followed an average of 14 stops per game as a junior . . . The team captain his senior year, he earned second team All-Metro honors as named by the Kansas City Star. He was also all-district and all-conference that year . . . Dave continued to impress followers the summer after his senior year when he logged a team high 10 tackles for the Missouri team in the annual Big Brothers All-Star Game in Kansas City . . . An honor student at Hickman Mills, he also lettered three times in track concentrating on the shot put and discus . . . Dave, whose father, Charlie, played football at Missouri, was born June 21, 1961.

Decatur, Ga.

A two-sport letterman at Kansas, Mickens is not only one of the Jayhawks' top pass receivers but also one of the nation's premier sprinters. This past spring he completed his sensational track career for the Jayhawks running a leg on the 1,600-meter relay team that finished second (just .02 seconds off the winning time) at the NCAA Outdoor. During the 1979 indoor season he was the Big Eight champion in the 440 with a 47.49 clocking. He also anchored KU's winning mile relay team at the league indoor meet . . . Lester completed his collegiate track career with four school records. In addition to the above mark in the 440 he was also a member of relay units that set school standards in the indoor mile relay and 1,600-meter relay. In addition he participated on a relay unit that established an Allen Field House record in the mile relay . . . Lester emerged last season as one of the Big Eight's top pass receivers finishing the year with 11 catches good for 144 yards and one touchdown. His career receiving figures now stand at 17 receptions for 276 yards . . . Lester's top game from the standpoint of number of catches came last year against Kansas State when he hauled in four for 31 yards. His top game from the standpoint of yardage came as a sophomore against Missouri with 77 yards in two receptions. That yardage made up his two longest plays to date. The first was a 39-yard toss from Kevin Clinton followed by a 38-yard aerial, also from Clinton. The third longest reception of his career, 37 yards and a touchdown on a halfback pass from Tim Jones, also came against Missouri last season . . . Because he missed spring practice (to concentrate on track) Mickens is listed No. 3 on the pre-fall depth chart behind sophomores Russ Bastin and Jim Boushka . . . Mickens was an all-state flanker and safety as a senior at Gordon High School in Decatur, Ga. He was set to attend Florida out of high school to run track and play football but a coaching change prompted him to instead enroll in junior college. He spent his freshman season at Alameda, Calif., Junior College where he ran only track. He did the same his first year at Kansas before resuming his football career to the satisfaction of everyone involved with the Jayhawks' grid program . . . Lester was born Sept. 9, 1958, and will celebrate his 22nd birthday on Tuesday ahead of the season opener with Oregon.

Kansas' 1980 roster includes five players whose fathers once played for the Jayhawks. Included are Ray Evans (father, Ray, was an All-America halfback for KU in 1947), Bob Fiss (father, Galen, was an All-Big Seven fullback for KU in 1952 and later captained the Cleveland Browns), K.C. Brown (father, Charlie, played briefly for KU in 1957 before knee injury suffered in automobile accident shortened his career), Chuck Hoag (father, Charlie, was an All-Big Seven halfback for KU in 1951 and '52) and Brad Vignatelli (father, Gene, was a KU fullback in early 1950's).

A starter the past two seasons at cornerback, Miller figures to again play a key role in the Jayhawks' secondary in 1980. Last year he logged 27 tackles, 15 of which were solos, and had three pass breakups. He also had one interception, coming against Pittsburgh with no return . . . Delvin began his career at Kansas in 1976 as a flanker. He played briefly for the varsity during his rookie year catching one pass (against Iowa State) for 32 yards. He saw considerable action that year with the junior varsity finishing the season with two receptions for 81 yards and a touchdown . . . Miller was red-shirted in 1977 during which time the switch to defense was made. He was a part-time starter as a sophomore in 1978 and finished that campaign with 14 tackles, one fumble recovery (against Iowa State) and one interception (versus Oklahoma with a seven-yard return) . . . That gives him 41 career tackles going into his final season with two interceptions and one fumble recovery. His single game tackle high at this point is four first coming in 1978 against Oklahoma and equaled in 1979 against Pittsburgh, North Texas State, Nebraska and Iowa State . . . Delvin, who has the most varsity experience of all the KU secondary personnel, was an all-conference football and basketball player at Monessen High School. On the gridiron he played slot-back and defensive back finishing his senior year with 17 receptions for 302 yards and nine touchdowns plus 224 yards on the ground in 46 attempts, a 4.9 average . . . Delvin was born Aug. 30, 1957, and will turn 23 during the first week of classes for the fall semester.

Highly promising Walter Mack (34) missed nearly half the 1979 season because of an ankle injury. He still finished as KU's third leading rusher and figures to join highly regarded freshmen Garfield Taylor and Kerwin Bell to make tailback a potentially strong position for the Jayhawks.

Tom Modie

57 TOM MODIE Offensive Guard
Sophomore 6-2 220 19 Marietta, Ohio

A defensive tackle as a freshman for the junior varsity, Modie was switched to offensive guard this past spring. The experiment was termed a success by Coach Fambrough . . . "We think Tom has the potential to play a lot of football for us before his career is over," Coach Fambrough says. "We think he has the tools to develop into a heck of an offensive guard. It will just be a matter of time until he begins to realize his potential" . . . Actually Modie was impressive on defense. He had 22 tackles for the jayvees last season, 10 of which were unassisted. He also recovered a fumble and had four stops behind the line-of-scrimmage resulting in eight yards lost by enemy ball carriers . . . Tom was recruited out of Marietta as a tight end and place kicker. A three-year starter during his prep career, he caught 18 passes for 333 yards and seven touchdowns as a senior. As a junior he had 11 receptions for 190 yards and had five grabs for 66 yards as a sophomore. That gave him 34 career receptions for 589 yards, a 17.3 average gain per catch . . . Tom also started at defensive end where he logged 61 tackles as a senior and 49 as a junior. He also finished his career with 25 stops behind the line-of-scrimmage . . . Perhaps the highlight of his prep career, however, came in the place kicking department where he set a school career record with 42 successful point-after . . . His senior year was culminated by being named All-Metro by the Parkersburg News. The paper also recognized him as an honorable mention all-state selection to go with all-district and all-league recognition . . . Modie competed in three other sports at Marietta. He was a two-year letterman in basketball averaging just over 10 points and seven rebounds a game as a senior. He also earned two monograms in baseball posting a .330 batting average as a senior outfielder. He also lettered in track as a hurdler his senior year . . . Tom was born Nov. 29, 1960, and will celebrate his 20th birthday exactly one week following the regular season finale with Missouri.

91 GUY NEIGHBORS Defensive Tackle
Junior 6-6 270 21 Tempe, Ariz.

A defensive tackle and defensive end the last two seasons at Scottsdale (Ariz.) Junior College, Neighbors transferred to Kansas last January and participated in spring drills. He'll open fall drills listed as the No. 2 left defensive tackle behind Jeff Fox . . . Guy recorded 116 tackles the last two seasons for Scottsdale teams that posted 6-4-0 and 8-1-1 records. Thirty of those stops were unassisted. He also recovered five fumbles . . . As a sophomore (last year) he helped Scottsdale win the league championship and advance to the Beef Bowl . . . At Marco De Niza High School in nearby Tempe, Neighbors earned all-state honors his senior year prior to being tabbed a prep All-American by Parade Magazine. He also was a starter as a senior for the school's basketball team and that year won the award for the most improved player . . . Guy was born Jan. 12, 1959.

Two of Kansas' outstanding players in the early 1950's—Galen Fiss and Mike McCormack—left KU to go on to similarly outstanding careers with the Cleveland Browns. In fact the pair served as co-captains for the Browns.

Steve Oliver

Fred Osborn

70

STEVE OLIVER

Offensive Tackle

Senior 6-4 280 21 Wabaunsee, Kan.

A letterman last year in a backup role, Oliver is being counted on in 1980 to provide much needed depth to the Kansas offensive line. He'll open fall drills as the No. 3 left offensive tackle behind sophomore Dave Wessling and junior Jay McAdam . . . Oliver began his collegiate career at Pratt (Kan.) Junior College where he was a defensive tackle. Because of an injury he played in just nine games his sophomore year at Pratt but still managed to log 38 unassisted tackles, 19 assisted stops and three fumble recoveries. Among his tackles were five quarterback sacks . . . Steve was first team All-Jayhawk Juco Conference both seasons at Pratt and earned honorable mention All-America recognition his final year . . . He transferred to KU in the spring of 1978. An injury in pre-season practice that fall (knee) required surgery thus causing him to sit out the campaign. His recovery was substantial enough that he played in 1979 and subsequently earned his first KU monogram . . . Steve played both offense and defense at Alma High School near Wabaunsee in the northern part of the state. He lettered three years at Alma in both football and basketball and captained both teams as a senior. He was an all-league choice twice in football and was first team all-state for Class 2-A as a senior . . . Steve was born Sept. 11, 1958, and will celebrate his 22nd birthday two days prior to the season opener with Oregon.

69

FRED OSBORN

Offensive Guard

Senior 6-4 240 21 Elk Falls, Kan.

A letterman in 1977 at linebacker, Osborn was red-shirted the following year paving the way towards a switch to offensive guard. The experiment proved more than successful as Osborn moved into the starting lineup last season and now must rate among the Jayhawks top offensive linemen . . . "When Fred was recruited there was little doubt that he would be a tremendous football player," Coach Fambrough says. "Not only does he have the physical talents but he is a highly intelligent young man. That's been evident in his switch to the offensive line. There is so much to learn but it took him little or no time. He played well for us last year and I thought he had an outstanding spring. There's no doubt that he's a vital key for us" . . . Fred will open fall drills listed as the No. 1 right guard . . . The switch to offense was not because of any inability at linebacker. In 1977 Fred was KU's top reserve linebacker and finished the season with 32 tackles, 18 of which were solos . . . As a freshman in 1976 he was the second leading tackler among junior varsity linebackers with 26 (16 unassisted) . . . Fred was a first team all-state selection in 1975 by the Topeka Capital-Journal following a superb senior year West Elk High School near Elk Falls, Kan. He was also a two-time all-conference selection, was named by the Coffeyville Journal to its All-Southeast Kansas squad and was on the Big Eight Magazine's top 100 list . . . Fred was credited with 77 unassisted tackles his senior year. He was also valedictorian of his class with a perfect 4.0 grade point average. He also served as president of the student body . . . Osborn was also a standout in basketball and track. He averaged 17 points a game his senior year on the hardwoods and was a shot putter for the track team . . . Fred's older brother, Frank, was recruited seven years ago out of West Elk as a blue chipper but had his collegiate career terminated early by a series of knee injuries . . . Fred was born Feb. 10, 1959.

Kansas has had unusual success in producing All-America quarterbacks during the past two decades. John Hadl (1961), Bobby Douglass (1968) and Dave Jaynes (1973) were all first team All-America signal callers.

Mike Pearl

Mike Phipps

MIKE PEARL

Sophomore 6-0 185 20 Kansas City, Mo.

After being red-shirted in his initial freshman season (1978), Pearl was the No. 2 tailback for the junior varsity last year finishing the season with 14 yards rushing in five attempts . . . Pearl's early career at Kansas has been slowed by a knee problem first incurred his senior year at St. Plus High School in Kansas City. He had surgery in 1978, thus resulting in the freshman red-shirt season, and it is hoped that he now is fully recovered . . . The problem prevented him from playing in the Missouri Class 3-A quarter-final playoff game that ended the season for St. Plus in 1977 with a 9-2 record. Until the injury Mike had been sensational. He finished the season with 1,401 yards rushing and 15 touchdowns on 215 carries (6.7 average). He also caught 15 passes for 157 yards and two additional touchdowns. He was used on defense three games and logged 46 tackles, an average of just over 15 per outing . . . As a junior Pearl rushed for just over 800 yards and finished his three-year varsity career with 2,261 yards rushing and 25 touchdowns on 338 carries (6.1 average). He also had 25 career pass receptions for 258 yards and four touchdowns . . . As a senior Mike was a first team all-state choice for Class 3-A and was a second team All-Metro selection by the Kansas City Star. He was twice voted all-league and as a senior was the league's most outstanding player. Mike was also a two-year letterman in basketball and was a three-year standout with the track team. His best 100-yard dash time was 9.7 . . . Mike was born Dec. 2, 1959.

15

Quarterback

Sophomore 6-2 200 19 Ardmore, Okla.

After sharing the No. 1 quarterbacking responsibilities last year for the junior varsity, Phipps enjoyed a solid spring practice before raising more than a few eyebrows with a superb spring game. In that contest he executed to near perfection and rushed for 32 yards on only five carries including one for 21 yards . . . The KU quarterback picture is uncertain going into fall drills thus Phipps, based on his spring game performance, must be considered a challenger for the No. 1 spot . . . Last season he led the KU junior varsity in passing with 161 yards and one touchdown based on 13 completions in 28 attempts. He also had a net-six yards rushing . . . Mike was looked over by many college recruiters because of a broken collarbone his senior year at Ardmore High School that sidelined him for five weeks. He still directed the team into the second round of the Oklahoma state playoffs. He transferred to Ardmore for his senior year from Port Arthur, Tex., where as a junior he led his team to an 8-2 record . . . As a senior at Ardmore, despite missing five games, he completed 50 of 111 passes for 680 yards and nine touchdowns. He also had 144 yards rushing in 65 attempts . . . As a junior at Port Arthur he completed 56 of 103 passes for 951 yards and seven touchdowns. He also ran for seven touchdowns . . . Mike is also a quality punter averaging 40.6 yards as a junior and 40.3 as a senior . . . The Ardmore captain his senior year, he earned honorable mention all-state in Oklahoma and was named to the all-area team as a punter. He was an all-district performer at Port Arthur as a junior . . . Mike was born Feb. 23, 1961.

Three of KU's non-conference opponents in 1980 are independents. Only Oregon of the Pacific Ten has league affiliation. Against present day Pacific Ten opponents KU has an all-time record of 15-13-1.

Quarterback Steve Smith enjoyed an outstanding spring practice and figures to be among the leading candidates to be KU's No. 1 signal caller in 1980.

KEN POWERS

Defensive Tackle

Sophomore

6-6

The leading tackler for the Kansas junior varsity team last year, Powers hails from tiny Moscow, Kan., in the far southwest corner of the state where the prep ball is of the eight-man variety. Powers was recommended to Coach Fambrough by Ed Hall of Sublette (also in the far southwest corner of the state), KU's leading rusher in both 1939 and 1940 . . . "The last person Ed Hall recommended was Galen Fiss (of tiny Johnson, Kan., near Sublette, who turned out to be an All-Big Seven fullback for Kansas in 1952 and later co-captain with fellow KU graduate Mike McCormack of the Cleveland Browns)," Coach Fambrough recalls. "He didn't turn out too bad. If Ed Hall says he's a prospect that's good enough for me" . . . Powers has not disappointed Hall, Coach Fambrough or anyone else for that matter. He had 34 tackles for the junior varsity last year, tops on the squad, as an outside linebacker. Sixteen were unassisted and seven (again, tops on the squad) were behind the line-of-scrimmage for 64 yards lost . . . This past spring Powers was moved to defensive tackle and he'll open fall drills on the No. 3 unit . . . Ken started at tight end and linebacker for three years on Moscow teams that posted a combined 31-3 record. That included a state championship and perfect 12-0 record his senior year . . . As a receiver he caught 13 passes for 146 yards and two touchdowns his sophomore season, 19 for 227 yards and seven touchdowns as a junior and 28 for 359 yards and seven touchdowns as a senior. Defensively he averaged nine tackles a game as a sophomore, 11 as a junior and 14 as a senior. He also had career totals of 14 interceptions and 13 fumble recoveries . . . Ken was a first team all-state selection (for eight-man football) his senior year by the Topeka Capital-Journal and the Wichita Eagle-Beacon. He was also an all-league choice both as a junior and as a senior . . . Ken was also a superb basketball player at Moscow and was the first team all-state center his senior year for Class 1-A. He averaged 20 points an outing that year while leading Moscow to the state playoffs . . . His accomplishments on the track were similarly outstanding competing in both the high hurdles and triple jump . . . Ken was named "Student of-the-Year" by the Moscow Jaycees his senior year and was an Eagle Scout . . . His brother, Garwin, plays for Panhandle State College in Oklahoma . . . Ken was born June 10, 1960.

JOHN PRATER

Center

Junior

6-3

Canyon, Tex.

The starting center at Texas Christian two years ago, Prater left TCU following the spring of 1979 and transferred to Amarillo, Tex., Junior College. He didn't play at Amarillo during the 1979-80 academic year and now has two years eligibility remaining . . . Prater signed with TCU following a sensational high school career at Canyon. He played both tight end and linebacker while earning all-district honors both as a junior and as a senior. While serving as team captain his senior year, he hauled in 34 passes for 431 yards and three touchdowns and averaged an incredible 23 tackles per game (including an average of 10 solo stops). He also had four fumble recoveries and intercepted six passes. Canyon finished the year with a 7-3 record . . . John began his career at TCU as a defensive end. He was switched to the offensive line, however, before two-a-days were completed in 1977. He lettered that year while being on the No. 1 unit of specialty teams and playing some at guard. The following spring he played center in addition to guard. Early in the 1978 season he played at guard against Arkansas and Penn State. He was then switched to center and finished the year as the Horned Frogs' No. 1 pivot . . . An excellent student, John was named to Who's Who Among American High School students his senior year at Canyon . . . He comes from an athletic family. His father, also John, played both football and basketball at Baylor . . . John was born Feb. 13, 1959.

GREG ROACH

Offensive Tackle

Senior

6-6

Thousand Oaks, Calif.

A key personality for Kansas in 1980, Roach will open fall drills listed as the No. 2 right offensive tackle behind Bob Whitten . . . A transfer from Moorpark (Calif.) Junior College last year, Roach lettered in 1979 in a backup role despite sitting out part of the season with an injury . . . "Greg has the potential to be an outstanding offensive lineman," Coach Fambrough says. "It's really up to him as to how good he will be. It will be very important to our team that he realize his potential" . . . Greg was a two-year starter at Moorpark where as a sophomore he was a first team all-conference selection. He was also the school's first offensive lineman ever to be selected the team's most outstanding performer . . . Greg entered Moorpark after a similarly outstanding career at Thousand Oaks High School. As a senior he was regarded as one of the top prep linemen in the Los Angeles area. He was a two-time all league selection and, after hanging up his cleats, started three straight years for the school's basketball team . . . Greg was born April 27, 1959.

Beginning in 1930, Kansas players have participated in 13 different all-star games a total of 110 times.

After lettering as a freshman and enjoying a superb spring, Schleicher figures to become the No. 1 tight end for Kansas in 1980 although senior Mike Kennaw might change those thoughts . . . Schleicher is regarded as potentially an outstanding collegiate tight end. He caught five passes in his rookie year for 57 yards . . . "Everything you look for is there," Coach Fambrough says of Schleicher. "He has great hands to go with size and speed. Potentially he can become a great one" . . . That is exactly what the Kansas staff hopes will happen, as early as this season. His early success has come as no surprise. He was the subject of a competitive recruiting battle after a sensational prep career at Shawnee Mission North. He started at tight end and linebacker for two seasons and also filled in at fullback as a senior . . . As a junior Jeff caught 15 passes for 256 yards and two touchdowns. He followed that effort with 13 receptions for 242 yards and five touchdowns as a senior . . . A consensus all-state selection, he made the prestigious teams of the Topeka Capital-Journal, Wichita Eagle-Beacon and the Kansas City Star. He made the top 11 teams of the first two and the All-Metro team of the latter. He was also a first team All-Sunflower League selection his senior year on both offense and defense . . . Following his senior year Jeff was selected to participate in both the Kansas Shrine Bowl All-Star Game and the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Game in Kansas City . . . A gifted athlete, Schleicher was also a two-year standout for North's basketball and baseball teams. He led the basketball team in scoring as a senior and later that year held down the starting center field position for the baseball team . . . Jeff's top receiving performance at KU to date was against Oklahoma in Norman last year when he hauled in two passes for 15 yards. His longest reception thus far is 18 yards having come against Nebraska last year . . . Jeff was born Sept. 30, 1961, and will turn 19 on Tuesday prior to the Syracuse game.

A junior from Pittsburg, Kan., Chris Toburen figures to be among the top defenders in the Big Eight Conference this season. Jeff Schleicher

Bucky Scribner

BUCKY SCRIBNER

Punter

Sophomore 6-0 205 20 Lawrence, Kan.

Having sat out the 1979 season after transferring from Pratt (Kan.) Community College, Scribner appears to be heir to Mike Hubach in the punting department . . . Scribner's qualifications are impressive. Two years ago at Pratt he led the nation's junior college punters with a 43.4 average (2,691 yards on 62 punts). As such he was a junior college All-American . . . Rather than stay at Pratt for his sophomore year he returned to his hometown and sat out last season while gaining eligibility under the transfer rule . . . Bucky was impressive at Lawrence High School as well averaging just over 40 yards per kick throughout his prep career. He earned All-Sunflower League honors twice as a punter but also played offensive and defensive tackle. The Lions advanced to the state playoffs his senior year . . . Bucky was born July 11, 1960.

55

JERRY SEDLACEK

Center

Senior 6-0 240 21 Hanover, Kan.

A walk-on three years ago who saw some junior varsity action during his rookie season (1977), Sedlacek left the team during pre-season drills his sophomore year. With the return of Don Fambrough as head coach Sedlacek returned to the team and earned a scholarship . . . He played sparingly last year and now is hopeful of earning more playing time in his final season. The competition will be stiff, however, with Bob Fiss, Grant Thierolf, Ed Bruce and John Prater also in the center picture . . . Jerry played tight end, linebacker, offensive guard and defensive end during his prep career at Hanover. He was an all-league selection as a senior on both offense and defense and was honorable mention all-state at tight end . . . Hanover recorded a combined 32-10 mark during Jerry's four-year career including 10-1 league championship season his senior year . . . Jerry's cousin, Kent, will be a sophomore running back for Kansas State this season . . . Jerry was born Dec. 2, 1958.

Dave Jaynes, the All-America quarterback in 1973, holds every Kansas passing record but one. The one that eluded him was most touchdown passes thrown in one game. It is held by Ralph Miller, the current head basketball coach at Oregon State. Miller quarterbacked the Jayhawks in the late 1930's and once threw five touchdown passes in a 1938 game against Washburn College of Topeka. Jaynes, who even today must rank among college football's all-time great passers, has the top four and six of the top seven passing performances in KU annals. Topping that list is the 401-yard performance (25 of 46) against Washington State in 1972.

Junior

280

20

Nose Guard

Chicago, Ill.

Initially because of excessive weight and then because of an injury, Smith sat out last season after starting as a freshman and as a sophomore in the 1977 and '78 seasons . . . The injury has healed and his playing time now depends largely on how well he maintains his weight problem . . . Smith has played well at times during his career and potentially could be an integral part in the Jayhawks' defensive line . . . Greg was a part-time starter as a freshman in 1977 and finished the year with 17 tackles. A year later he had 66 stops, second on the team among down linemen. His single game tackle high came that season when on successive Saturdays he had 10 stops against Colorado (all were unassisted) and Oklahoma (eight were unassisted) . . . Smith was switched between nose guard and defensive tackle (the position where he lettered as a freshman and sophomore) in the spring and will open fall drills listed as the No. 2 nose guard behind Stanley Gardner . . . Greg was a two-sport standout at Mendall Catholic High School in Chicago. He earned all-league and all-city honors in football and was the city heavyweight champion as a senior in wrestling (he also won the district title as a junior). In football he played both ways as a senior while serving as captain and being voted the team's most outstanding performer . . . Greg was born Oct. 22, 1959, and will celebrate his 21st birthday on Wednesday prior to the Oklahoma State game.

Quarterback

Emporia, Kan.

Following an outstanding spring practice, Smith appears to be the top candidate for the No. 1 quarterback job. Despite having limited playing time during his career to this point the Kansas staff is quite confident of his capabilities . . . "He's a winner," Coach Fambrough says. "Attitude is so important and that's where Steve has an edge. He may not always have perfection in his form but he gets the job done. Our football team has confidence in him and so does the coaching staff" . . . Smith repeatedly earned plaudits from Fambrough throughout the spring and culminated the off-season drills by completing four of seven passes in the spring game for 40 yards . . . Smith, who was red-shirted in 1978, could also be in line for the No. 1 place-kicking responsibilities. He actually handled it in last year's Missouri game because of an injury to Mike Hubach. In that game he successfully converted his only point-after attempt . . . Steve came to Kansas following a brilliant prep career as a wishbone and veer quarterback at Emporia High School. One of his receiving targets was Russ Bastin who enters fall drills as the Jayhawks' No. 1 flanker. The likelihood of that duo completing more aeriels together appears more than probable . . . As a senior Steve was a consensus first team all-state selection by the Topeka Capital-Journal, Wichita Eagle-Beacon and Kansas City Star. He guided Emporia to the Class 4-A state championship that year with a 12-0 record. Steve connected on 75 of 147 passes that season for 1,432 yards and 13 touchdowns. Bastin was on the receiving end of 41 of those aeriels. Smith also rushed for 665 yards and a dozen more touchdowns that season . . . Career-wise Steve concluded with 111 completions in 227 attempts for 2,027 yards and 18 touchdowns. He rushed for 771 yards and 16 touchdowns . . . He also played defense in high school logging 117 career tackles and intercepting 12 passes . . . Steve also lettered in basketball at Emporia

Fayetteville, N.C.

A second team All-Big Eight selection last season, Sydney led the Jayhawks in rushing in 1979 and figures to rank among the league's top running backs in 1980 . . . Harry's career at Kansas has been unusual in that he's been a running back throughout with the exception of his sophomore year when he quarterbacked the KU attack. That season, his first to letter, he was the squad's No. 2 rusher with 222 yards. He also was the team's No. 1 passer with 605 yards on 44 completions in 107 attempts with two touchdowns . . . Harry's best passing output that year came against Iowa State when he completed 11 of 21 for 132 yards and one touchdown . . . Last year Sydney led the KU ground attack with 541 yards on 123 attempts. That gives him a career rushing figure of 763 yards . . . Sydney flashed signs of brilliance his freshman season with the KU junior varsity with a 71-yard touchdown reception and an 89-yard kickoff return for a touchdown. Finished that season with 69 yards rushing on 25 attempts for the jayvees and 10 kickoff returns for the varsity for 182 yards . . . Sydney's role for Kansas this season, according to Coach Fambrough, will be more than just on the field . . . "Harry's a leader and we're looking for him to play a large leadership role," Coach Fambrough says. "He's a very intelligent young man who gives you everything he has every day. I can't say enough about how important he is to this football team" . . . Harry was an all-conference option quarterback at 71st High School in Fayetteville. He finished his senior year with 1,349 yards passing and nine touchdowns with 66 completions in 174 attempts. He also had 974 yards rushing on 180 attempts with 15 touchdowns. He served as the team captain both as a junior and senior. A highlight of his prep career was a 98-yard touchdown run from scrimmage . . . Harry has had one other game of note although it's nowhere to be found in the record books. Prior to the start of the 1978 season he was used as comedian Flip Wilson's stand-in during the shooting of a television special . . . Harry was born June 26, 1959.

A second team All-Big Eight selection in 1979, Harry Sydney is a central figure in the Kansas offense. The senior from Fayetteville, N.C., led the Jayhawks in rushing a year ago with 541 yards. He also had three 100-plus rushing efforts in 1979.

Tailback

Miami, Fla.

One of the nation's most highly sought school-boy running backs two years ago, Taylor's long anticipated debut at Kansas will hopefully be this fall. He sat out last year when he tore cartilage in a knee during a pre-season scrimmage. The operation was a success and he actually was ready to go again late last season but was held out and thus will begin his varsity career this fall . . . Garfield hopes the injury jinx is over forever. After a sensational junior year at Killian High School in Miami college recruiters were drooling over prospects of landing him. But a combination of knee, shoulder and ankle injuries slowed him during his senior year. He missed half the season and wasn't at full speed the other half. He still carried the ball 103 times gaining 585 yards and scoring seven touchdowns . . . As a junior he led his team to the division championship while rushing for 885 yards on 121 carries, an eye-popping 7.3 average. He also scored eight touchdowns . . . Despite the injuries he still earned third team all-state honors as a senior by the Miami Herald and Miami News after receiving second team all-state recognition as a junior by the two papers . . . Garfield was also a two-year track letterman at Killian and had several confrontations with Wayne Capers who prepped at South Miami High School . . . Taylor gave every indication in the spring that he is at full speed and ready to realize what has been called tremendous potential . . . "He has the things you can't teach," Coach Fambrough says. "He not only has great size, speed and quickness but also the intuition of knowing where the hole is. I think he'll be a great one in time" . . . Taylor figures to be in the midst of a three-way battle for the No. 1 tailback job with junior Walter Mack and freshman Kerwin Bell . . . Garfield was born Feb. 3, 1961.

Center

Beloit, Kan.

After missing his initial freshman season in 1978 because of a hand injury, Thierolf came back strong last season as expected while backing up the veteran Bob Fiss at center. He earned his first varsity letter and now is expected to join Fiss, veteran Ed Bruce and transfer John Prater to make the position one of the most depth-laden on the offensive line . . . Grant had an outstanding prep career at Beloit High School and was regarded as one of the state's top recruits. He helped Beloit post a 38-1 record during his three-year career including three straight Class 2-A state championships under former KU assistant Clayton Williams . . . As a senior Thierolf was first team all-state as selected by the Topeka Capital-Journal and was a second team all-state choice of the Wichita Eagle-Beacon . . . He also earned All-America honors by Coach and Athlete Magazine . . . Played both offense and defense at Beloit. Defensively he was used at nose guard and made 260 career tackles (141 unassisted), recovered nine fumbles and intercepted one pass. His best tackle output came as a senior with 100 stops, 53 of which were solos . . . In addition to the above honors Grant also earned all-league, all-area and All-Class 2-A both as a junior and as a senior . . . He didn't excel strictly on the field, either. In the classroom he was an honor roll student throughout high school . . . Grant will celebrate his 20th birthday on Sept. 26, the day before the Louisville game.

David Verser, KU's All-American wide receiver candidate, was a member of KU's 1977-78 Big Eight champion basketball team. He appeared in five games in his lone season on the roundball team.

Cerritos, Calif.

A transfer from Cerritos Junior College (Calif.), Thompson will sit out the 1980 campaign while gaining eligibility under the NCAA transfer rule . . . One of the most highly recruited junior college linemen in the country this past year, Thompson's presence is being greatly anticipated by the Kansas staff . . . Broderick was an All-South Coast Conference selection last fall at Cerritos while earning the reputation of being one of the country's finest. He also earned the league's most outstanding defensive lineman award in 1979 . . . Thompson finished the 1979 season with 122 tackles including 74 unassisted stops. As a freshman he had 90 tackles, 63 of which were solos. That gave him two-year totals of 212 tackles with 137 being unassisted . . . Thompson was basically unrecruited out of high school because of a late start in playing the game. He began his career only after entering high school at Richard Gahr High in Cerritos. It was after he enrolled at Cerritos Junior College that he began to catch the eye of college recruiters . . . "Broderick has an opportunity to be a very fine college lineman," Coach Fambrough says. "You have to remember he's only been playing at the competitive level a very few years. The potential is there. It's just a matter of him developing" . . . Broderick was born Aug. 14, 1960.

Inside Linebacker

Junior

Pittsburg, Kan.

Always regarded as being one with outstanding abilities, Toburen blossomed late last season and is now being hailed as one of the Big Eight's best inside linebackers . . . He solidified that analysis in the season finale last year when he had a career-high 19 tackles against Missouri, seven of which were solos. He further solidified it this past spring with an outstanding off-season . . . "He reminds me some of Steve Towle (former KU linebacker now with the Miami Dolphins)," Coach Fambrough says. "He has a nose for the ball and is a hitter. I expect great things from Chris the next two years" . . . Chris played both outside linebacker and inside linebacker last year but figures to be a fixture at the inside position in 1980. He'll open fall practice along with scellars Young as the No. 1 unit inside linebackers . . . Toburen actually wasted little time his freshman season making it known that he would become a prominent part of the Jayhawks' defensive scheme. He lettered that year while logging 24 tackles, 15 of which were unassisted. Last year he had 82 stops, 42 of which were solos, giving him 106 tackles at this point in his career . . . Chris was a consensus first team all-state selection in 1977 following his senior year at Pittsburg High School and was one of the state's most highly recruited prospects. He helped guide Pittsburgh to an 8-2 record that season including the Southeast Kansas League championship . . . In addition to his all-state honors he also earned All-Southeast Kansas honors as named by the Coffeyville Journal and was on that paper's Super 11 team . . . Chris actually played both ways in high school although it was on defense that he made his reputation. He led the squad in tackles both as a junior with 77 and as a senior with exactly 100 (65 were unassisted). He also had four career fumble recoveries and one interception . . . Chris served as team captain his senior year. He excelled in the classroom too gaining membership to the National Honor Society . . . Chris is the son of Nelson Toburen who played collegiate football at Wichita State and professionally with the Green Bay Packers . . . He'll turn 21 on Monday (Nov. 24) following the regular season finale with Missouri.

Tumpich feels like a cat with nine lives after a Big Eight rules change last winter gave him another year of eligibility. The junior college transfer was in his first season at Kansas in 1978 when he went down in the second half of the season's third game (28-24 victory over UCLA) with a knee injury. By the old hardship rules that was one half too many and it was first believed that he had lost the entire season. Thus he played last year thinking it was his last. Faculty representatives relaxed the rule after the 1979 season, however, and made its effect retroactive to all current student-athletes in the conference. Thus Joe is back for his second senior season . . . Actually his first wasn't bad finishing the campaign with 47 tackles, third highest among KU secondary personnel. He also had two pass interceptions (both against Missouri with no return on either) and one fumble recovery (also against Missouri). He saved his best game for Missouri as, in addition to the above, he logged a career high 10 tackles, six of which were solos . . . Joe picked up in the spring just as he had left off against Missouri and will now enter fall drills listed as a No. 1 cornerback . . . Tumpich transferred to Kansas after playing the 1976 and 1977 seasons at Valley Community Junior College in Los Angeles. He had actually won the No. 1 strong safety job for the Jayhawks in 1978 when he went down against UCLA resulting in knee surgery . . . At Valley Community Junior College he was an All-Metro pick his sophomore year. He averaged 90 tackles and three interceptions a year at Valley . . . Joe was a highly versatile performer at Mt. Carmel High School in Chicago. He played running back, wide receiver and safety in addition to taking care of the punting chores. Upon completion of the grid season, he wrestled . . . Joe was Mt. Carmel's outstanding performer his senior year, a season in which he also was an all-area and all-league selection . . . Joe was born Aug. 30, 1958.

Kansas City, Kan.

Already the fifth leading pass receiver in Kansas history with exactly 900 reception yards, Verser ranks among the nation's top pass receivers in 1980 . . . A first team All-Big Eight selection last year by both Associated Press and United Press International, David led the Jayhawks in receiving in 1979 with 21 grabs for 463 yards, an average gain of exactly 22 yards per catch. He also had four touchdown receptions and had a long of 67 yards against Oklahoma State . . . "There is simply not a receiver in the country I would trade David Verser for," Coach Don Fambrough says. "I have seen some fine receivers in my time but I can't think of one that David would take a backseat to. His primary strength is that he has no weakness. Our success this year will largely depend on how much we get the ball to him" . . . Verser possesses astonishing speed to go with great hands . . . Barring the unforeseen he

David's Top Receiving Performances

1. 151 yards on three receptions vs. Okla. State, 1979.
2. 102 yards on three receptions vs. Kansas State, 1978.
3. 100 yards on five receptions vs. Syracuse, 1979.
4. 91 yards on two receptions vs. Texas A&M, 1977.
5. 72 yards on three receptions vs. Missouri, 1977.

appears to be a good bet to climb at least to the No. 3 position on the all-time KU receiving chart and possibly as high as No. 2. Here's a quick review of where he stands:

1. Emmett Edwards (1972-73-74) 1,846 yards on 109 catches.
2. Bruce Adams (1972-73-74) 1,511 yards on 90 catches.
3. John Mosier (1967-68-69) 1,192 yards on 92 catches.
4. Otto Schnellbacher (1942-46-47) 1,069 yards on 58 catches.
5. David Verser (1977-78-79) 900 yards on 47 catches.

A quick calculation shows that Verser needs 170 yards to pass Schnellbacher, 293 to pass Mosier, 612 to pass Adams and 947 to move past Edwards into the top spot ... Verser, one of only three three-year lettermen on the squad, led Kansas in receiving both in 1977 and last year and was No. 2 in 1978. His 463 yards last year ranks as the eighth highest single season total in school history ... His single game best, from the standpoint of yardage, came last year with 151 on three receptions against Oklahoma State. That ranks as the second highest in school history and was just two yards shy of the school record. His best effort in terms of the number of catches also came last year against Syracuse when he hauled in five for exactly 100 yards ... Career-wise David is averaging 19.2 yards gained per reception ... He has also proven to be effective running the ball with 97 career rushing yards in 13 attempts, a 7.5 average. That means that going into his senior year he has gained an average of 16.6 yards every time he has touched the ball ... David, as one would imagine, has been involved in some cross-country completions. His tops was an 80-yarder from fullback Norris Banks against Texas A&M in 1977 (his varsity debut) which still ranks as the third longest in school history ... Verser was a standout three-sport athlete at Sumner High School in Kansas City. He lettered in football, basketball and track but had his senior year hampered by an ankle injury suffered in football. The injury limited him to only five games on the gridiron but he still managed to make the second team all-state unit and second team All-Metro squad as chosen by the Kansas City Star ... David was born March 1, 1958.

High Point, N.C.

After playing strictly offense as a freshman (when he earned his first varsity letter) and both offense and defense last year, Wagoner appears to have found a home in the KU secondary. He'll open fall drills as the No. 2 left cornerback behind Delvin Miller . . . Wagoner began his career at Kansas as a wide receiver but early in his rookie year was shifted to running back where the Jayhawks badly needed help. He responded well finishing the season with 213 yards rushing (third best on team) on only 41 attempts, a 5.2 average per attempt (tops on the team). He also proved to be a quality receiver latching on to four passes for 61 yards and a touchdown (the touchdown pass was a 26-yard pitch from Harry Sydney against Colorado) . . . Last season, before being moved to defense, he was listed as a wide receiver and finished the year with two receptions for seven yards. That gives him career receiving figures of six receptions for 68 yards and a touchdown . . . Dan's career best rushing effort was 45 yards coming twice — first against Miami in nine carries and then equaled against Oklahoma in only six carries. His longest career run of 30 yards also came against the Sooners . . . As one would imagine the switch to defense in the middle of the 1979 season meant limited playing time. The transition seems to have been smooth, however, and, if this past spring was any indication, it now is complete . . . "Dan Wagoner is an extraordinary athlete," Coach Fambrough says. "He's also intelligent and has a winner's attitude. He can best help this team in the secondary and he has 100 percent willing to make the switch. He played well in the spring. I expect him to improve every day" . . . Dan spent his first two varsity seasons at Andrews High School in High Point, N.C., as a running back. He rushed for 389 yards and three touchdowns on 74 attempts as a sophomore and picked up 634 and six touchdowns on 111 attempts as a junior. Andrews finished with a 13-1 record and the Class 4-A (state's largest class) championship his junior year . . . Severe graduation losses from that team forced Wagoner to move to quarterback for his senior year. Andrews slipped to a 4-6 record and Wagoner's stats suffered accordingly largely due to an undermanned offensive line . . . An all-conference selection as a junior, Dan captained Andrews his senior year and the following summer played in the North Carolina Shrine All-Star Game . . . Dan, who graduated from Andrews in the top five percent of his class, was born Dec. 12, 1959.

A part-time starter two years ago, Wattlelet took over the No. 1 strong safety position (Hawk) last year and finished the season with 89 tackles, four pass interceptions and two fumble recoveries. The 89 tackles was second only to Leroy Irvin's 103 among KU secondary personnel . . . Wattlelet, who along with Delvin Miller represents most of KU's secondary experience, will open fall drills listed as the No. 1 Hawk . . . "Frank is a very steady performer," Coach Fambrough says. "He's a good athlete and is very intelligent. He just doesn't make any mistakes" . . . Wattlelet's intelligence is substantiated by the fact that he already is a two-time All-Academic selection in the Big Eight Conference. His 3.5 grade-point-average in his pre-med studies earned him a special medical scholarship inaugurated two years ago by the Athletic Corporation through the Williams Educational Fund . . . Frank was a picture of consistency last year. Five times he had at least 10 tackles with a career high of 15 against Missouri in the season finale. His four pass interceptions in 1979 came against Pittsburgh, Michigan, Kansas State and Oklahoma . . . He was a wishbone quarterback at Abilene (his parents have since moved to Joplin, Mo.) earning second team all-state honors as a senior while guiding it to a 10-1 record and a regional championship . . . He finished his prep career with 60 pass completions in 116 attempts for 1,082 yards and 13 touchdowns. He rushed for 1,130 more on 239 carries plus 35 touchdowns. Frank also doubled at linebacker on defense but Frank Wattlelet, senior defensive back from Abilene, Kan. (although the family now resides in Joplin, Mo.), will again be a key figure in KU's defensive secondary. Wattlelet is an All-Academic selection in the Big Eight Conference with nearly an A-average in his pre-medical studies.

DAVE WESSLINGOffensive Tackle*Sophomore*6-5*240*19*Wichita, Kan.

A starter for the junior varsity last year as a freshman, Wessling had an impressive spring and by its conclusion had earned the No. 1 job at left tackle. That's the way he'll start fall drills . . . Dave possesses unusually good speed for a man his size. He has been clocked in the 40-yard dash at 4.9. That plus improved strength as a result of the KU weight training program has suddenly made him a top candidate in the Jayhawks' offensive line . . . Dave was a two-year starter at Wichita North. As a senior he was an honorable mention all-state selection and a second team All-City honoree as chosen by the Wichita Eagle-Beacon. He concluded his prep career by playing in the 1979 Kansas Shrine Bowl All-Star game . . . Dave was born June 15, 1961.

Following two superb seasons in which he has started every game at either right tackle or right guard, Whitten ranks among the Big Eight's best offensive linemen in 1980 and, as such, is a strong candidate for honors . . . "He's just been tremendous for us," Coach Fambrough says. "If there was ever an underrated player he is it. He's been very consistent throughout his career. I expect even bigger things from him this year" . . . After playing at guard in 1979 Whitten will return in 1980 to right tackle. That move became possible when Fred Osborn, David Lawrence and Gus Scellars Young, senior linebacker from St. Louis, figures to become KU's all-time leading tackler in 1980 barring the unforeseen. The all-conference candidate has 309 career stops going into his final season. He needs merely 39 more to pass the school mark of 347 established last season by free safety Leroy Irvin.

Bob Whitten

Mark Wilbers

Kyles all had outstanding springs at guard. The end result should be a much improved offensive line for Kansas . . . Bob, who has excellent mobility and quickness for his size, sat out much of his freshman season with an illness. He still played some on both offense and defense for the varsity although not enough to letter . . . He was a three-year, two-way starter at Junction City High School. A knee injury his senior year kept some college recruiters away but he still managed 68 tackles that season while earning all-league and honorable mention all-state honors . . . If there were any doubts about the knee they were erased in that summer's Kansas Shrine Bowl All-Star game when Bob had a team-high eight tackles including three quarterback sacks . . . During his three-year prep career the Blue Jays logged a combined 26-6 record, won two league championships and advanced to the state playoffs every year. 22

St. Louis, Mo.

Both a starter and part-time starter throughout his career at Kansas, Young has given a steady performance during the last three years and now approaches his final season with his eyes set on the school's all-time tackle record. With 91 as a freshman (third highest total on the team), 111 as a sophomore (also third highest on the team) and 107 last year (team high) he now has 309 career tackles. That is just 38 away from the school mark established last year by Leroy Irvin who finished his career with 347 . . . Scellars' career single game high to this point is 21 against Colorado as a sophomore in 1978. Only twice has a KU defender had more in one game (Steve Towle had 25 against Colorado in 1974 and Terry Beeson had 22 against Nebraska in 1976) . . . The mark by Towle plus one other are further goals Young will attempt to reach in 1980. Only one KU player — current inside linebacker coach Mike Sweatman — had three seasons in which he logged at least 100 tackles. Scellars would become the second if he can hit the century mark again in 1980 . . . Young actually ranks only fourth on the all-time tackle chart going into the 1980 season. He needs five more to move into the No. 3 spot currently held by Steve Page (313 tackles from 1969-71) and 33 more to move into the No. 2 spot currently held by Sweatman (341 tackles from 1965-67) . . . In addition to his tackle output Young has recovered two fumbles at this point in his career and has pass interceptions against UCLA (eight-yard return) and Kansas State (22-yard return). Both thefts came in the 1977 season. The interception against Kansas State was part of an outstanding performance. He also had 16 tackles against the Wildcats that day and the interception led to the winning KU touchdown. As a result Sports Illustrated named him the national defensive player of-the-week . . . That performance was also one of 17 in which Young has logged at least 10 tackles . . . Scellars' statistics at Kansas are actually close to those he had at Central High School in St. Louis. During a four-year prep career he logged 334 tackles including 240 solos. He also had 15 fumble recoveries and intercepted four passes while playing both linebacker and defensive end. He captained the team his senior year while earning all-league, all-metro and all-district honors . . . Scellars was born May 31, 1958.

Jayhawks' Record Impressive In Season and Home Openers

Kansas has had a successful history in season and home openers. Through the first 90 years of participation in football at the intercollegiate level the Jayhawks have logged a 49-35-6 record for season openers, a percentage of .577. In home openers the record is even more impressive with a 62-24-4 ledger. That represents a .711 winning percentage.

The Jayhawks have not been so successful playing night games. Since its first night football game in 1930 Kansas has played 53 times under the lights and has posted a 21-27-5 record. The Jayhawks' first nocturnal gridiron venture was against Creighton at Omaha on Oct. 4, 1930, and resulted in a 26-0 victory for KU.

Kansas' only night game in Memorial Stadium was with Haskell in 1931 (Haskell won the game, 6-0). For that match the field was illuminated by a portable lighting system devised by Phog Allen, then KU athletic director. Kansas teams have played three other night games in Lawrence, all at Haskell Stadium. One was against Haskell and the other two with Washburn of Topeka.

Pittsburgh 24, Kansas 0

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (Sept. 15) — Combining a swarming defense with the punishing running of fullback Randy McMillan and the pinpoint passing of Rick Trocano, Pittsburgh defeated Kansas, 24-0, in the season opener for both teams. The Pitt triumph spoiled the return of KU head coach Don Fambrough.

Trocano finished the day with 189 yards through the air (26-12-2) plus two touchdowns while McMillan rushed for 141 yards on 21 carries. A stifling defense limited the Jayhawks to a negative 17 yards rushing. Four times Kansas managed to get inside the Pitt 30 but came away with nothing.

The KU offense consisted strictly from its passing attack. Sophomore Kevin Clinton, making his first start, passed for 163 yards with 17 completions in 30 attempts.

Michigan 28, Kansas 7

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (Sept. 22) — For the second straight week Kansas faced what was regarded as one of the nation's strongest defenses and dropped a 28-7 decision to Michigan. A crowd of 100,228, the largest ever to see a Kansas football game, watched the Wolverines score once in each quarter to break up a close contest through the first half.

Despite being limited to one first down, one yard rushing and only 15 passing, Kansas trailed just 14-7 at halftime thanks to a 60-yard punt return by KU safety Leroy Irvin for a touchdown. It marked the first time Kansas had returned a punt for a score since Bruce Adams pulled the trick from 44 yards out against Oklahoma State in 1974.

It also marked the second straight week that Kansas faced a balanced offense. Michigan was effective both on the ground and through the air. Quarterback John Wangler passed for 195 yards with 12 completions in 18 attempts. Stan Edwards paced the Michigan ground attack with 106 yards and two touchdowns in 17 carries.

Kansas 37, No. Texas State 18

LAWRENCE, Kan. (Sept. 29) — Kansas' offense, which had generated less than 300 yards in the first two games, exploded against North Texas State in the home opener resulting in a convincing 37-18 victory over the Mean Green. The Jayhawks ran 96 plays from scrimmage, a school record, while totaling 485 yards.

Kansas was paced by the one-two running punch of Walter Mack and Harry Sydney. Mack (124 yards) and Sydney (101 yards) became the first pair of KU running backs to top the century mark rushing since the final game of the 1976 season (41-14 victory over Missouri) when Laverne Smith (150) and Mark Vicendese (111) accomplished it.

Mike Hubach booted three field goals to boost the KU cause.

Nebraska 42, Kansas 0

LINCOLN, Neb. (Oct. 13) — Kansas shut Nebraska out in the first and fourth quarters but in between the Cornhuskers rolled up 42 to easily defeat the Jayhawks. Nebraska dominated the contest throughout running up 611 yards of total offense compared to only 79 for Kansas.

The Kansas defense played well in the first half, according to coach Don Fambrough, limiting the Cornhuskers, who came into the game with an offense that statistically ranked No. 1 in the nation, to one touchdown and three field goals. But the third quarter was a different story. Nebraska took advantage of an interception and a short punt for scoring drives of 29 and 46 yards inside the first six minutes to increase the lead to 29-0.

The Nebraska scoring was capped in the final play of the third quarter when I-back Craig Johnson went over tackle for a 94-yard scoring run. It established a Nebraska record for longest run from scrimmage.

Kansas 24, Iowa State 7

AMES, Iowa (Oct. 20) — Combining a stingy defense with a balanced offense, Kansas jumped to a 14-0 halftime lead and then cruised to a 24-7 victory over Iowa State. It ended a streak of 14 straight road losses for the Jayhawks dating back to the season opener in 1977.

Iowa State was limited to just 172 yards of total offense, 80 of which came in the fourth quarter after Kansas had taken a 24-0 lead. Reserve quarterback Terry Rubley directed the Cyclones on a seven-play, 45-yard touchdown drive late in the game to avoid the shutout.

Kansas benefited from the outstanding kicking of Mike Hubach who averaged 46.9 yards on eight punts including a personal best 83-yarder. Hubach also tied a school record with his 18th career field goal and had three conversions to increase his school record of point-after without a miss to 48.

Junior fullback Harry Sydney led KU rushers with a career-high 121 yards on 17 attempts. Junior wide receiver David Verser had 42 yards in pass receptions to move into the top 10 on the Jayhawks' all-time list (681 on 41 catches).

LAWRENCE, Kan. (Oct. 27) — Oklahoma State intercepted two Kansas passes in the endzone, recovered a KU fumble in the endzone and forced yet another fumble in the Jayhawk endzone resulting in a safety enroute to a 30-17 victory.

The Cowboys jumped to a 16-0 first quarter lead utilizing a 46-yard pass from quarterback John Doerner to flanker Ron Ingram on their first play from scrimmage, the safety and a 35-yard run by tailback Terry Young.

Kansas recovered to take a 17-16 halftime lead. The passing of Brian Bethke to David Verser plus a school record 53-yard field goal by Mike Hubach spearheaded the KU comeback. Verser finished the day with 151 yards receiving (three catches), the second best day in KU history.

OSU drove 70 yards in 10 plays on its first possession of the second half to regain the lead. Kansas then fumbled the ball into the endzone on its first play following the Cowboy touchdown giving Oklahoma State yet another score.

Kansas 36, Kansas State 28

LAWRENCE, Kan. (Nov. 3) — Behind the running of Mike Higgins and Harry Sydney and the pinpoint passing of Brian Bethke, Kansas overcame a fourth quarter deficit to defeat Kansas State, 36-28.

What was billed to be a defensive struggle never materialized as both teams combined for 929 yards of total offense plus nine touchdowns and a field goal.

Kansas State quarterback Darrell Dickey riddled the KU defense for 306 passing yards, the most ever given up via the air by the Jayhawks. That was countered, however, by Higgins and Sydney who rushed for 165 and 110 yards respectively.

Kansas took the lead for good late in the fourth quarter on a 37-yard field goal by Mike Hubach.

Oklahoma 38, Kansas 0

NORMAN, Okla. (Nov. 10) — Oklahoma used three fourth quarter touchdowns to break up an otherwise tight game and defeat Kansas, 38-0.

The Sooners led 17-0 in the fourth period but Kansas, behind reserve quarterback Kevin Clinton, had driven to the OU 33. Disaster struck at that point, however, when Clinton fumbled the ball in the air while dropping back to pass. It was picked off in the air by OU tackle John Goodman who raced 56 yards for the touchdown. On the very next series Kansas was stopped on fourth down at its own 29. It took the Sooners five plays to convert it into another TD.

Following the kickoff Clinton again moved the Jayhawks before being stopped on downs at the OU 37. Two plays later reserve quarterback Darrell Shepard, carrying the ball for the first time in his career at Oklahoma after transferring from Houston, went around right end to score from 60 yards out.

The game was costly for Kansas with five players suffering season-ending injuries.

Colorado 31, Kansas 17

LAWRENCE, Kan. (Nov. 17) — Taking advantage of several Kansas mistakes plus a superb overall performance by quarterback Bill Solomon, Colorado upset the Jayhawks, 31-17. It was only the second victory of the year for the Buffs and the first in the conference.

Solomon completed 11 of 19 passes for 130 yards and two touchdowns. He also rushed for 31 giving him 161 yards of total offense. But, Kansas was its own worst enemy giving up two easy second quarter touchdowns that erased a 10-0 first quarter lead. The Buffs took a 14-10 halftime lead with scoring drives of 17 and 14 yards following a fumble and a punt attempt that punter Mike Hubach had to eat following a poor snap.

The Kansas offense was ineffective throughout the day converting just two of 16 third down situations and managing a mere 170 yards of total offense.

Missouri 55, Kansas 7

LAWRENCE, Kan. (Nov. 24) — Missouri turned five fourth-quarter turnovers by Kansas into immediate touchdowns scoring 34 points in the final 11 minutes to blitz the Jayhawks, 55-7.

Although seemingly in command, Missouri had mounted only a 21-0 lead going into the final quarter before the roof fell in for Kansas. The lead was 55-0 before a 37-yard halfback pass from Tim Jones to Lester Mickens with 0:03 left put KU on the board.

Missouri was paced by the running of Gerry Ellis and James Wilder who collected 108 and 97 yards respectively. The Tigers also received a stellar performance by quarterback Phil Bradley who passed for 83 yards (14 of 26) and ran for another 37.

Hubach Establishes Scoring Mark

Mike Hubach is the only player in the history of Kansas football to lead the Jayhawks in scoring four straight years. In fact, only one other player has accomplished the feat three times and that was two-time All-American Gale Sayers. Hubach finished his career with 135 points. Only Laverne Smith (1973-74-75-76) with 150 and Bud French (1946-47-48-49) with 138 scored more during their KU careers.

Famous KU Field Goals

1925—Stoney Wall kicked 17-yarder at final gun against Missouri at Lawrence to break a deadlock and hand Jayhawks 10-7 victory.

1926—George Mackie kicked 12-yarder against Oklahoma at Lawrence with 4 minutes remaining to provide Kansas 10-9 victory.

1946—Paul Turner kicked 34-yarder in the mud and gloom against Oklahoma at Lawrence, the kick coming with 1:20 left giving Kansas a 16-13 triumph. The Jayhawks went on to tie OU for the conference title. That defeat was to be the Sooners' last from a conference opponent in 13 years.

1957—Ray Barnes kicked 18-yarder against Missouri at Lawrence with 48 seconds left to boost Jayhawks to a 9-7 victory.

1960—Roger Hill kicked 46-yarder against Missouri at Columbia to break a scoreless deadlock 4:30 into the third quarter and send the Jayhawks on to an upset 23-7 victory over a Tiger club ranked No. 1 in the nation.

1966—Thermus Butler kicked 38-yarder with four seconds remaining to allow Kansas to escape with a 3-3 tie against Kansas State at Manhattan.

1967—Bill Bell kicked 30-yarder with 6:02 remaining to give Kansas a 17-16 victory over Kansas State at Lawrence.

1973—Freshman Mike Love, playing in his first varsity game, kicked a 47-yarder with 10:26 left to play to give KU a 10-10 tie with Oklahoma State and preserve its bid for a bowl berth which later materialized with a Liberty Bowl invitation. The kick set a school record for longest field goal. The game was played in Lawrence.

1977—Sophomore Mike Hubach set a school record with a 52-yard boot against Missouri in Lawrence. It proved to be the difference in a 24-22 Kansas victory.

1979—Mike Hubach connected from 53 yards out against Oklahoma State to establish a school record for longest field goal for the third time in his career.

Kansas' All-Time Team

Based on a poll conducted by the Lawrence Journal-World in the summer of 1976, Kansas players of more recent vintage have been among the school's greatest.

The poll, which attempted to determine the top 10 backs and linemen of all time at Kansas, was dominated by post-World War II performers. The oldest were All-Americans Ray Evans and Otto Schnellbacher along with Don Fambrough, current head coach of the Jayhawks. All three climaxed their careers with the 1947 Kansas Orange Bowl team.

Leading vote getters were All-Americans John Hadl and John Zook. Hadl, a two-time All-American and current offensive coordinator for KU, led the backs in voting while Zook, an All-American in 1968, paced the linemen.

Three members of the 1976 team — quarterback Nolan Cromwell, defensive tackle Mike Butler and halfback Laverne Smith — also made the team. Interestingly nearly half — nine to be exact — of the 20 squad members finished their career during the decade of the 1970's.

Here's a rundown on the top backs and linemen:

Hall of Fame

Jim Bausch, Ray Evans and Gale Sayers, three of the greatest names in the history of Kansas athletics, represent the school in the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame.

Bausch, who died in July of 1974, was the first Jayhawk enshrined being named to the Hall in 1954. Like Evans, Bausch was a two-sport standout at Kansas earning all-conference honors at fullback in both 1929 and 1930 and then becoming the Olympic decathlon champion in the 1932 games at Los Angeles. Many long-time KU followers regard him as the greatest athlete in the school's history.

Jim Bausch

Evans, an All-American in both basketball and football, was enshrined in 1964, 10 years after Bausch. Now a prominent Kansas City businessman and sports enthusiast, Evans was an All-American halfback for the Jayhawks in 1947 after earning the same honor in 1942 as a guard for the KU basketball team.

Ray Evans

Sayers is the latest to be honored. He was formally inducted Dec. 6, 1977, in New York City. Sayers also was named to professional football's Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, that same year marking the first time a player has been named to both in the same year. He was an All-American halfback for the Jayhawks in both 1963 and '64. He, along with John Hadl, an All-American in 1960 and '61, are the only players in Kansas history to be twice named All-America. Sayers is still today recognized as one of the greatest performers the game has ever known.

Gale Sayers

The three are honored by displays at the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, located in a beautiful facility that opened in August of 1978 at Kings Mills, Ohio, just outside of Cincinnati.

Bowl History

1948 Orange Bowl

Georgia Tech 20, Kansas 14

MIAMI, Fla. (Jan. 1)—Trailing 20-14 to Georgia Tech with the final minutes ticking away, Kansas appeared set to upset the favored Engineers in the 14th annual Orange Bowl only to have a lost fumble at the two-foot line dash away all hopes.

Kansas dominated the game statistically totaling 275 yards compared to Georgia Tech's 204. But pass defense plus the fumble proved to be the Jayhawks' downfall.

All three Georgia Tech touchdowns came on passes. Included were 24 and five-yard strikes from quarterback Jim Still to Jim Patton and a 15-yard strike from Still to Billy Queen.

All-America halfback Ray Evans paced the Kansas attack with a 12-yard touchdown run and a 13-yard touchdown pass reception.

Georgia Tech scored first on the 24-yard pass play to take a 7-0 lead in the second quarter. Kansas answered that, however, with a 65-yard drive climaxed by Evans' 12-yard scoring burst and the extra point by Don Fambrough.

The third quarter proved pivotal, however, as Georgia Tech scored twice to take a 20-7 lead into the final stanza. Finding it difficult to move on the ground Tech resorted to the airways. As a result Still set an Orange Bowl record for most touchdown passes and best passing percentage, a .769 mark based on 10 completions in 13 attempts.

The Jayhawks were not finished, however. A long pass from quarterback Bill Hogan to end Bryan Sperry moved the ball to the Georgia Tech 12. Hogan then lobbed a 12-yard scoring pass to Evans. Fambrough's extra point made it 20-14.

Soon afterwards Dick Monroe of Kansas recovered a Georgia Tech fumble at the Tech 42. Three plays later Hogan passed complete to end Otto Schnellbacher putting the ball at the 26. Evans then sliced off three yards before pitching to Schnellbacher who was forced out at the 10. Evans then bolted nine yards to the one and it appeared Kansas was all set to upset the Engineers.

But then disaster struck. Quarterback Lynne McNutt, attempting to sneak it in for the game-tying touchdown, lost the ball and the officials ruled that Tech's Rollo Phillips came up with it. Controversy raged as to whether McNutt actually fumbled or that Phillips took it away from him amidst the pileup at the goal line. Regardless, Georgia Tech took over at the one and what appeared to be a near celebration for Kansas turned into a nightmare.

The game marked the end of the playing careers of two KU All-Americans — end Otto Schnellbacher and halfback Ray Evans. The pair represented the first All-Americans ever named at Kansas. Schnellbacher finished his career at KU with 58 pass receptions good for 1,069 yards. Both the number of receptions and total yards stood as KU school records for more than 20 years.

Evans finished his career with 3,799 yards of total offense including 1,431 rushing and 2,368 passing. The total yards and passing yardage also stood as school records for more than 20 years.

The 1948 Orange Bowl was played in what then was a newly expanded stadium. Double decking swelled the crowd to 59,578.

1961 Bluebonnet Bowl

Kansas 33, Rice 7

HOUSTON, Tex. (Dec. 16)—Sparked by a 41-yard run by quarterback John Hadl out of deep punt formation late in the first half, Kansas swept by Rice amidst a steady rain, 33-7, to claim the third annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

Trailing 7-6 at the time and facing a fourth-and-six situation from the KU 40, Hadl faked the punt and raced 41 yards before being dropped at the Rice 19. Two plays later fullback Ken Coleman crashed over from the one to give the Jayhawks a 12-7 halftime lead.

That proved to be the impetus for Kansas as it thoroughly dominated the second half against the homestanding Owls.

The Jayhawks controlled the ball in the second half scoring on drives of 50, 36 and 68 yards while finishing the day with 76 offensive plays compared to only 47 for Rice.

Kansas was equally effective on the ground and in the air. Hadl finished with seven completions in 10 attempts for 64 yards. Coleman, voted the game's most outstanding offensive performer, finished with 107 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

The Jayhawks scored first with 5:05 remaining in the initial quarter when Coleman went over from a yard out. It climaxed a 59-yard, nine-play drive. The extra point attempt by Bill Barnes was blocked.

Rice answered that score, however, with just 45 seconds left in the first quarter when quarterback Randy Kerbow completed a five-yard scoring pass to flanker Johnny Burrell. The extra point was good to put the Owls on top for the one and only time.

That set the stage for Hadl's heroics and the Kansas domination.

Two Kansas players — Hadl and fullback Curtis McClinton — signed professional contracts on the field immediately after the game. Hadl signed with the San Diego Chargers and McClinton with the Dallas Texans.

Controversy surrounded Hadl prior to the game when it was alleged that he had already signed a professional contract with the Chargers thus making him ineligible. To clear the air he signed an affidavit saying he had not signed.

Hadl finished his career with 2,382 yards total offense — 1,341 passing and 1,041 rushing. At the time that figure ranked second only to All American Ray Evans who 14 years earlier had led Kansas to its first bowl appearance.

McClinton concluded his career with 1,414 yards rushing. At the time that figure was the fourth best in Kansas history behind Charlie Hoag, Homer Floyd and Evans.

1969 Orange Bowl

Penn State 15, Kansas 14

MIAMI, Fla. (Jan. 1)—In the never-to-be-forgotten "Twelfth Man Game," Penn State shaded Kansas, 15-14, with a second-chance two-point conversion in the waning seconds of the 35th annual Orange Bowl Classic.

The Jayhawks apparently had won the game when they broke up Chuck Burkhart's conversion pass following Penn State's frantic touchdown with just 15 seconds remaining.

However, it was ruled Kansas had 12 men on the field and the Nittany Lions received another chance — this time from only 1½ yards instead of three. On that attempt Bob Campbell's thrust at the left side of his line produced the winning margin.

Kansas, playing in its third bowl game, took a 14-7 lead early in the fourth quarter when Donnie Shanklin returned a punt 46 yards to the seven to set up a touchdown by John Riggins.

The Jayhawks nursed the lead for nearly 12 minutes and once missed a first down by inches at the Penn State five while driving for what would have been a wrap-up touchdown.

The game still appeared to be under control when Kansas kicked to the easterners at the 50 with 1:16 remaining. But on the next play Burkhart hit Campbell with a 47-yard pass that KU defender Billy Hunt lost in the lights. It took three plays to score from the three, but Burkhart finally got across on a bootleg play around left end to set the stage for the hectic windup.

Kansas scored in the opening quarter when Mike Reeves capped a nine-play, 45-yard drive by ramming over from the two. Pat Hutchens set the drive in motion by intercepting Burkhart's pass.

Shanklin, who gained 122 yards while handling the ball 19 times on rushes, kick returns and pass receptions, was voted the outstanding performer. His Orange Bowl production pushed Shanklin's career "all-purpose" running aggregate to 3,506 yards.

The game was played before 77,719 plus a national television audience. The 77,719 represents the largest crowd ever to watch a Kansas football game.

The game also marked the conclusion of careers for two Kansas All-Americans — quarterback Bobby Douglass and defensive end John Zook. The 1968 season was the last to date to see Kansas develop two All-Americans in one season.

1973 Liberty Bowl

North Carolina State 31, Kansas 18

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (Dec. 17)—Playing in a bowl game for the fourth time in its history, Kansas was upset by North Carolina State, 31-18, in the 15th annual Liberty Bowl.

The Jayhawks went into the game a slight favorite but fell after a controversial decision by an official in the third quarter led to three straight unanswered N.C. State touchdowns.

The play came in the early minutes of the third quarter with the score tied, 10-10. Facing a fourth down and six situation from its own 44-yard line, N.C. State punted to KU's Bruce Adams at the 19. In heavy traffic Adams called for a fair catch but fell to the ground as the ball glanced off of him. N.C. State's Ralph Stringer fell on the ball and the Wolfpack scored two plays later when fullback Stan Fritts went over right guard from eight yards out. Ron Sewell's extra point put N.C. State on top, 17-10.

Adams argued with officials that he was tripped on the fair catch but the officials refused to change their ruling. Game films later clearly showed that he was in fact tripped.

The Wolfpack scored twice more before the Jayhawks' offense responded with a late fourth quarter scoring drive of its own. A drive of 80 yards in 17 plays culminated by a 12-yard touchdown run by Charles Young pushed N.C. State ahead, 24-10, with 4:50 remaining in the game. Less than a minute later N.C. State's Jim Henderson intercepted a Dave Jaynes pass in the flat and returned it 31 yards to put the Wolfpack out of reach, 31-10.

Jaynes, KU's All-America quarterback playing his last game for the Jayhawks, then led Kansas on a 74-yard drive in eight plays to cut the N.C. State margin to 13, 31-18. Fullback Robert Miller, playing the best game of his career for KU, scored the touchdown with a brilliant 12-yard burst through the middle with just 0:34 remaining. Jaynes passed to Adams for a two-point conversion.

Jaynes finished the game with 24 completions in 38 attempts for 218 yards. All of those figures represented Liberty Bowl records and for his efforts he was named the game's outstanding offensive performer.

Miller finished the game with 104 yards rushing in 15 carries. He scored both KU touchdowns, one rushing and one receiving.

Mike Lemon, junior noseguard, led the Kansas defense with 11 tackles, seven of which were unassisted. Lemon was voted KU's outstanding defensive performer in the game.

1975 Sun Bowl

Pittsburgh 33, Kansas 19

EL PASO, Tex. (Dec. 26)—Playing in its fifth bowl game ever and second in three years, Kansas dropped a 33-19 decision to Pittsburgh in the 41st annual Sun Bowl.

In truth the Jayhawks were never in it from the second quarter on. Behind three 100-plus rushing performances by All-American halfback Tony Dorsett (142), fullback Elliott Walker (123) and quarterback Robert Haygood (101) the Panthers built a 19-0 halftime lead and then held on in the second half to claim the triumph.

Walker opened the game's scoring with a brilliant 60-yard run on a pitchout from Haygood. The score came with 2:11 remaining in the initial quarter and after two earlier scoring threats by Kansas had faltered.

The failure on those two occasions seemingly gave Pittsburgh the momentum it needed to easily capture the verdict.

The first came on the game's third play when KU quarterback Nolan Cromwell kept for 13 yards around end then pitched to halfback Bill Campfield who fled untouched to the end zone for what appeared to be an 83-yard scoring play. But the officials ruled it was an illegal forward pitch and the ball was brought back. The drive subsequently stalled.

The second came just inside the six-minute mark in the first quarter when, facing a fourth-and-one at the Pitt 17, Cromwell appeared to easily make a first down with a sneak up the middle. But when the ball was spotted it wasn't even close turning it over to the Panthers. Four plays later Walker scored from 60 yards out and the floodgates appeared open.

The Jayhawks did score first in the second half giving some hope of a comeback. Halfback Laverne Smith, who finished the day with 118 yards rushing, dazzled the Panther defense with a 55-yard burst up the middle with 4:32 remaining in the third quarter. That made it 19-7 but with 12:49 remaining in the game Walker scored again for Pittsburgh, this time from two yards out, to erase all KU hopes of a comeback.

Smith later added a 17-yard touchdown run which was followed by a 38-yard scoring pass from quarterback Scott McMichael to halfback Skip Sharp to close out the Kansas scoring.

Nearly 4,000 KU faithful made the trip to El Paso to help comprise the record turnout of 30,272.

Television History

Including the televised coverage of four of its five bowl appearances, Kansas has played before live regional and national television cameras 18 times. Included have been 10 appearances beamed regionally and nationally from Memorial Stadium. Overall, the Jayhawks are 7-11 on the tube.

Kansas earned its way into the history of televised sports when its 1952 game with Texas Christian was the first to be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Co. A. C. "Dutch" Lonborg was the director of athletics at KU at that time. Sixty-three stations across the land, representing every major market with the exception of Portland, Ore., carried the game. Kansas' share of the payoff was $103,000.

Parrott Athletic Center

Practice facilities for the Kansas football team are a part of the Allen Field House complex. Five grass fields adjacent to Allen Field House plus the Parrott Athletic Center join with Memorial Stadium to complete the KU football plant at present. Plans are currently on the drawing board for a four million-plus indoor workout facility to be built adjacent to the Parrott Athletic Center.

The Parrott Athletic Center, annexed to the field house, was completed in August of 1976 at a cost of $325,000. It is situated next to the practice fields.

The facility encompasses more than 7,000 square feet. Included in it are new dressing facilities including 120 lockers and a suana; training and equipment rooms and a weight room. Also incorporated into the addition are the KU football offices and film rooms.

With the start of fall classes normal starting time for practice is 3:30 p.m. although it may change from day-to-day. Media members are advised to check with the sports information office. Kansas practices are open to the public unless otherwise announced.

Kansas' Memorial Stadium

KANSAS' Memorial Stadium, nestled beautifully at the north base of Mount Oread and the KU campus, is a 51,500-seat facility and is recognized as the first such structure built on a college campus west of the Mississippi River.

The stadium has over the years experienced several expansions. Three years ago it experienced a 1.8 million dollar renovation.

Included in the massive upgrading was a new artificial turf, a product of Monsanto, which replaced the old Tartan Turf utilized for eight years since the 1970 season.

ALSO included were new dressing and training rooms for both Kansas and opponents. All public facilities including rest-rooms and concessions underwent a massive facelift.

Concrete restoration was the first phase of the project. Upon its completion new aluminum seating was installed replacing the old board seats.

Another phase of the renovation covered the press box. New booths for television and radio along with a new photo deck were installed at level eight. Expanded radio booths were built on level seven in addition to a complete refurbishing that included all three levels. A second elevator was also installed.

CONSTRUCTION of the first two sections of Memorial Stadium (east and west stands) was in 1921 with an original capacity of 22,000. The first game played in it was on Oct. 29, 1921, with Kansas defeating Kansas State, 21-7, before 5,160 fans.

Later that year the Jayhawks defeated Missouri, 15-9, in the new facility before 15,480.

In 1925 additions were made to both stands at the south end which today house the visiting and home dressing rooms. On Oct. 3 of that year the largest crowd ever to witness a KU home football game at the time, 20,640, watched the Jayhawks defeat Oklahoma A&M (now Oklahoma State), 31-3. The north bowl was completed two years later raising the capacity to 35,000. Kansas played its first home game after that expansion on Oct. 8 of that year, losing to Wisconsin, 6-26.

The next addition came in 1963 when the west stands were expanded 26 rows raising the capacity to 44,900. Included in this addition was a new press box, the same one that stands today. Two years later a similar addition was added to the east side bringing the capacity to the present-day 51,500.

AFTER playing its first two years of intercollegiate football in old Central Park on Massachusetts St., Kansas built its first football field in 1892. It was named McCook Field and was named for Colonel John McCook who donated $2500 to trigger a building fund drive.

Like most stadiums of those early days it was nothing more than a set of wooden stands bordering each side of the field. It was laid out east and west on a site adjacent to the present Memorial Stadium. In fact, the horseshoe of Memorial Stadium covers much of old McCook Field. The east end zone of the original field was 400 feet from Mississippi St. and was bounded on the south by McCook St. At that time McCook St. extended from Mississippi to Maine cutting directly through the present-day stadium. It now is only a block long extending from Mississippi to Illinois, adjacent to the east side of the stadium.

Kansas played its first game on McCook Field on Oct. 27, 1892, defeating Illinois, 26-4.

The new stadium came about through, as former KU sports information director Don Pierce once wrote, "spontaneous combustion more than anything."

Playing a late-season game with Nebraska in 1920, Kansas fell behind the heavily favored Cornhuskers, 20-0, at halftime. In one of the most storied comebacks in the history of KU athletics the Jayhawks, playing under Dr. F. C. "Phog" Allen, then in his first year as athletic director and only year as football coach, gained a 20-20 tie in the final half.

DUTCH Lonborg, former Kansas athletic director and long-time basketball coach at Northwestern, quarterbacked that KU team and threw two touchdown passes to lead the comeback. Lonborg was later named the All-Missouri Valley quarterback.

It was a moral victory for Kansas and on Monday following the game students and faculty, celebrating in a mass meeting, pledged $200,000 toward a million dollar drive for a modern concrete stadium. Construction began immediately afterwards.

Dr. Allen envisioned a horseshoe structure and, under his direction, it was built as described above.

Athletic Hall of Fame

The University of Kansas Athletic Hall of Fame is located in the east lobby of Allen Field House. The Hall of Fame, started by former KU athletic director Clyde Walker, houses 72 portraits of Kansas athletic greats.

"So many of the world's greatest sports figures gained their initial fame at the University of Kansas," Walker said. "We hope the Athletic Hall of Fame pays proper tribute to their many accomplishments and contributions to the University."

Initial discussions and planning began in October of 1976. By April of 1977, the Hall of Fame's preamble and constitution had been finalized and soon afterwards the first portraits began to appear in the field house. The project was completed in the fall of 1978, two months ahead of schedule.

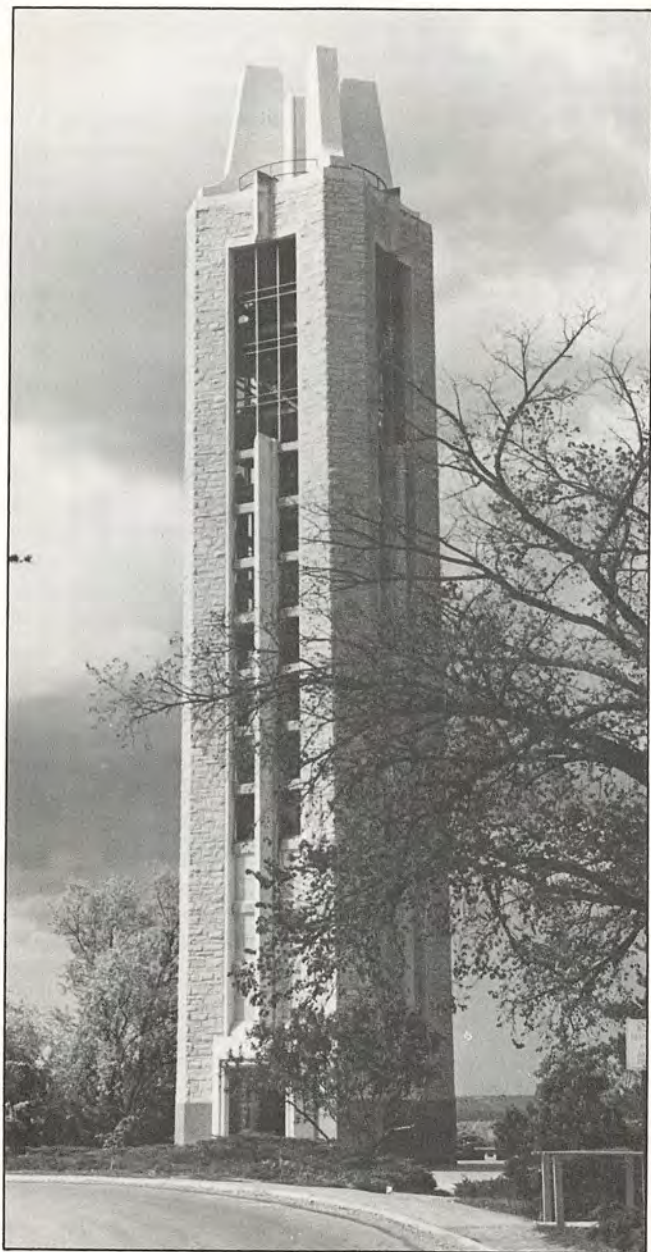

The creator of the outstanding portraits is Ted Watts, the commissioned artist of the Hall of Fame. Watts has done media guide and brochure illustrations for over 80 institutions and sports organizations, and was recognized in 1973 by the NCAA Publishing Service as "the fastest rising young sports artist in the nation."

The project was boosted in its early stages by substantial gifts from the Senior Class of 1977 and close associates and friends of the late Skipper Williams, long-time supporter of the University who was a close personal acquaintance of many of the inductees. Both gifts helped defray the major expense incurred by the project. Plaques at the entrance of the team displays recognize these contributions.

Eligibility for induction into the Hall of Fame is based on the premise of one achieving the maximum accomplishment during his career at KU as recognized by the NCAA. That means members of team sports (football, basketball and baseball) must be first team All-Americans as recognized by the NCAA. Members of teams in individual sports must be NCAA champions. Coaches of NCAA champions are also admitted as are individuals who have made a special contribution or achievement in his respective sport that is recognized world-wide.

Ted Watts, nationally recognized sports artist from Oswego, Kan., is the commissioned artist for the KU Athletic Hall of Fame.

Dr. Delbert Shankel

Acting Chancellor

Delbert M. Shankel became acting chancellor of the University of Kansas Aug. 15 and will serve until the search is completed for the University's 14th chancellor. A microbiologist with an extensive background in teaching, academic administration and research, Shankel served six and-a-half years as executive vice chancellor of KU's Lawrence campus before becoming acting chancellor.

Last spring he headed a delegation of KU officials who traveled to the People's Republic of China to negotiate exchange agreements between KU and two universities there. The first of those agreements will take effect during spring semester 1981.

Born in Plainview, Neb., Shankel attended elementary and secondary schools in Oshawa, Ontario, Canada, and received his bachelor's degree with a major in English and minors in chemistry and zoology from Walla Walla (Wash.) College. He also holds a Ph.D. degree in bacteriology with a minor in biochemistry from the University of Texas at Austin.

A scholar in the field of microbial genetics, Shankel has taught general and radiation biology, microbiology and genetics courses since joining the KU faculty in 1959. He also has led western civilization honors discussion groups.

Before coming to KU, he taught science and mathematics at Walla Walla College and was an instructor of bacteriology for the U.S. Army while completing a two-year tour of duty. He also has directed the National Science Foundation summer science training programs for high school students.

Shankel was named assistant dean of the KU College of Liberal Arts and Sciences in 1966 and became associate dean in 1969. He was acting dean of the College during 1973-74 before being named executive vice chancellor. He also has served on the KU Athletic Board.

A fellow of the American Academy of Microbiology and member of the British Society for General Microbiology, Shankel has conducted research and participated in professional conferences in the United States and abroad. In 1968, he participated in the NATO Conference on Control Mechanisms in Molecular Biology in Norway. More recently, he has been an invited speaker at international conferences in Czechoslovakia, the Soviet Union and Italy on biological effects of ultraviolet light, on molecular genetics and on carcinogens and cancer control. His current research interests are related to the genetic effect of carcinogenic chemicals and the ability of cells to repair that damage.

Shankel is married and has three children, Merrill, Jill and Kelly. His wife, Carol, is public information coordinator for KU's Spencer Museum of Art.

About the University

Record Growth Continues

The University of Kansas, long recognized as one of the nation's most prestigious public universities, has maintained a tradition of excellence both in teaching and research.

That fact more than any other is regarded as the primary reason for the University's continued enrollment growth. That growth, more than a 50 percent jump during the past decade, has come at a time when enrollments at our nation's colleges and universities have been declining.

Here are facts and figures relative to the University of Kansas:

ENROLLMENT—The total enrollment for the Lawrence and Kansas City campuses in the fall of 1979 was 26,227, a record number of students and a 21 percent increase over the last six years. KU's spring and summer enrollment figures also set records during 1980, and enrollment is expected to maintain a steady level in the 1980s. KU's enrollment strength comes at a time when enrollment at American colleges and universities has been declining.

ALUMNI—More than 29,400 of the 104,000 living KU alumni are active members of the KU Alumni Association. This is one of the highest levels of participation in an alumni association among state universities in the United States. KU alumni are top executives of 13 of the nation's top 500 companies, more than any other Big Eight Conference school, and have contributed substantially to the arts, science, government and countless other areas of endeavor.

ENDOWMENT ASSOCIATION—Between 1968 and 1980 the KU Endowment Association provided the University $110 million in buildings, scholarships, research funds and other financial aids and gifts. Total book value of the association exceeds $80 million in investments and properties. The Endowment Association is the oldest established university related foundation in America, having received its charter in 1891. It is a separately incorporated private corporation established solely for support of the University of Kansas.

The Helen Foresman Spencer Museum of Art, located on the Lawrence campus, is recognized as one of the finest such museums on any college campus.

The School of Law recently moved into this impressive new structure on the Lawrence campus, one of many building projects that characterized the University during the past decade.

EMPLOYEES—A total of 9,118 full and part-time employees are with the University this year, an increase of 26 percent in the last five years in faculty, staff and support personnel. In fiscal 1981 there are about 3,800 faculty and staff and 5,320 support personnel on the Lawrence and Kansas City campuses. It is estimated by the Lawrence Chamber of Commerce that KU accounts for more than 30 percent of local business and that the personal income of local individuals from KU-related jobs and business activities is in excess of $100 million annually.

STUDENTS—The following is a listing of a few representative examples of accomplishments by KU students during 1979-80.

- A KU graduate student placed second in the national brass division of the Music Teachers National Association Collegiate Artist Competition last March.

- Two KU debate teams were invited to the 1980 National Collegiate Debate Tournament on the basis of their 1979-80 season records. KU is the leader among U.S. colleges and universities in the number of teams sent to the national meet, and KU teams have won the tournament three times.

- A KU architecture and urban design student won first prize in the 1978-79 national Architectural Precast Concrete Student Design Award Program.

- Eleven KU engineering students received scholarships through the 1979-80 Incentive Grants Program of the National Fund for Minority Engineering Students of New York City.

- A recent KU psychology graduate, who was an inmate of the U.S. Penitentiary at Leavenworth, became the first prison inmate ever to be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa.

- A 1980 music graduate became KU's fifth consecutive nominee to win a national fellowship from Phi Kappa Phi national academic honorary.

- A KU entomology graduate student became the 20th student from KU to win a Danforth Graduate Fellowship.

- A graduate student in KU's public administration program was chosen to participate in the National Presidential Management Program, which places students in two-year internships in government agencies. She was the second KU student to be selected.

- A KU senior political science major was among 40 students from across the country to be chosen to participate in the Washington Election Semester. She is spending the fall semester of 1980 studying and gaining field experience in Washington, D.C.

- Two seniors in KU's William Allen White School of Journalism have been chosen as 1981 Sears Congressional Interns. They will work for congressmen in Washington, D.C. during spring semester 1981. A recent journalism graduate was selected to participate in the Modern Media Institute's fall 1980 newspaper management seminar in St. Petersburg, Fla.

- A KU senior in visual communications recently won a purchase award in the 22nd annual National Lutheran Student Art Award Program.

FACULTY—KU's faculty also distinguished themselves in 1979-80.

- A KU theatre professor was among the first inductees into the Kansas Theatre Hall of Fame.

- A KU assistant professor of chemistry received the Alfred P. Sloan Award for Basic Research, one of the most prestigious science awards in the nation.

- A KU assistant professor of chemistry received the Alfred P. Sloan Award for Basic Research, one of the most prestigious science awards in the nation.

- A member of the band faculty received the Orpheus Award from Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia national music honorary. The award is the highest honor the organization grants to non-members.

Dean Del Brinkman, wishing Coach Fambrough good luck prior to a 1979 home game, is an avid KU fan. Dr. Brinkman, KU's faculty representative to the NCAA and Big Eight Conference, is dean of the School of Journalism, one of the most highly regarded such schools in the country.

NASA's Space Technology building, located on Campus West of the Lawrence campus, is part of the University's massive research efforts.

- A faculty couple, one a history professor and the other an associate professor of curriculum and instruction, began a six-year term as Danforth Associates June 1. They joined about 20 other KU faculty who are eligible to attend associates program activities.

- A police instructor at KU's Law Enforcement Training Center received the highest award given by the American Red Cross.

- A KU environmental engineering professor lectured in the People's Republic of China as a participant in one of the first lecture exchange programs between the United States and the People's Republic.

- A KU medicinal chemist received a national pharmaceutical research achievement award from the American Pharmaceutical Association's Academy of Pharmaceutical Sciences for his work in natural products chemistry.

- A KU history professor was the 1979 recipient of the Waldo Gifford Leland Prize of the Society of American Archivists for the best book of the year on an archival subject.

- Two music faculty members received 1979 ASCAP Awards from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

PROGRAM HONORS—Several KU departments, programs and groups were cited during 1979-80.

- KANU-FM, the University's public radio station won first place in the Kansas Associated Press Broadcasters news contest for its coverage of an October 1979 Amtrak train derailment in Lawrence.

- The KU Symphonic Band received special plaudits for its performance at the Music Educators National Conference last April. The band was the only Kansas group invited to appear at the meeting.

- The Bureau of Education for the Handicapped of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare rated the KU special education faculty first among teachers in 25 programs surveyed across the nation.

- A report from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education cited the KU Language Laboratories as "among the best in the nation."

- A recent report evaluating the nation's engineering programs favorably rated KU's departments of chemical and petroleum, aerospace, electrical, and mechanical engineering and engineering physics.

- A recent count of members of the International City Management Association showed that KU's Master of Public Administration Program has produced more city managers than any other city management program in the country. KU graduates are managers of several of the nation's large cities, including Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas; Little Rock, Ark.; Kansas City, Mo.; and St. Petersburg, Fla.

- With three, KU had more graduate students receiving 1979-80 Fulbright grants for foreign study than any other Kansas or Big Eight school, according to a Chronicle of Higher Education listing.

- The doctoral program of the department of speech and drama was ranked 11th nationally in a survey sanctioned by the Association of Communications Administration. Special note was made of KU programs in interpersonal and organizational communications.

- The music program of the KU School of Fine Arts was rated among the nation's top 10 in a survey of members of the National Association of Music Executives at State Universities.

RESEARCH SUPPORT—In fiscal 1979 the Lawrence campus and the Medical Center generated $33.5 million in research grants, $18.1 million at the Lawrence campus and $15.4 million at the Medical Center. This total was up from $27 million in fiscal 1977 and from $12.5 million in fiscal 1966. Research programs underway include a continuation of a study on hereditary factors of alcoholism, a nearly $500,000 grant to help cancer researchers develop contrast agents which help detect tumors so small they cannot be detected by other means, and numerous other large and small basic research grants.

LIBRARIES—The University's libraries rank 32nd among the 94 major research libraries in the United States and Canada in number of volumes, and KU has the most extensive collections in this part of the country. A $6.2 million renovation of Watson Library, the University's main library, is underway. Spencer Research Library is recognized as one of the foremost repositories of old books and manuscripts and special collections in the country and recently received a gift of $400,000 from Mrs. Helen Foresman Spencer to expand and improve its holdings. Mrs. Spencer had earlier made gifts to the University for the construction of Spencer Library, Spencer Museum of Art, Spencer Chapel, and for the Spencer Lecture Series.

CONSTRUCTION—During the 1970s KU experienced an unprecedented construction boom that included a new humanities building, a new law school, an art and design building, the Spencer Art Museum, the Satellite Union and the Computer Services Facility. In 1980 that construction boom continues. A 5.8 million addition to Robinson Health and Physical Education Center was opened to students this fall, more than doubling the size of that facility. An $11.5 million addition to Malott Hall providing additional space for the School of Pharmacy, the Physical Sciences, an animal care facility, and some space for the science library, also was completed this fall. Underway also is a $6.2 million renovation of Watson Library, and a renovation of the former computer facility area in Summerfield Hall at a cost of $150,000. Plans are complete and bids will soon be received on a $2.8 million renovation of Marvin Hall, home of the School of Architecture and Urban Design, and a $2.0 million renovation of Lindley Hall which houses the Departments of Geology and Geography. Planning funds have also been approved for the proposed addition to Haworth Hall as well as a proposed addition to Moore Hall. A renovation of

Still in its first year of operation, the new Bell Memorial Hospital, a clinical facility on the Medical Center campus in Kansas City, represents the single largest building project ever initiated by the State of Kansas. It was constructed at a cost in excess of $50 million.

Flint Hall has been funded in the amount of $847,500 and architectural plans will begin soon on this project. In addition, the Kansas Legislature has approved a proposal for a $4.9 million medical library at the KU Medical Center campus in Kansas City, Kansas, and a $4 million renovation of E.B. Allen Hospital, site of the KU School of Medicine - Wichita.

MEDICAL CENTER—With the addition of the Bell Memorial Hospital and the Radiation Therapy Center, the KU Medical Center complex in Kansas City has become one of the most advanced tertiary care and teaching hospitals in this part of the country, treating more than 20,000 inpatients and more than 315,000 outpatients annually. The University has increased medical school enrollment by 60 percent since 1971. Nearly 2,000 students are enrolled in medical, nursing and allied health programs. The Medical Center complex is recognized as a major regional cancer treatment and research center. Outreach programs — to extend the University's health education programs and health care services throughout the state — represent a major commitment. The Nurse Practitioner Training Program, the Physician Placement and Recruitment Program, the Preceptorship Program, and residency training in locations throughout the state are just a few of the programs and services offered by the University of Kansas through the Division of Health Care Outreach.

Moore Hall, home of the Kansas Geological Survey, is located on Campus West of the Lawrence campus (where many of the University's research projects are housed).

Dean Del Brinkman

Faculty Representative

Dr. Del Brinkman, dean of the School of Journalism, is completing his second year as faculty representative for the University of Kansas to the Big Eight Conference and NCAA. Brinkman, who was named to the position in October of 1978, succeeded Prof. J. Hammond McNish who resigned after five years of service.

Dr. Brinkman has a lengthy list of publications, book reviews and honors to his credit. He currently is serving as president of the Association for Education in Journalism, the largest organization of journalism educators. During the 1977-78 academic year he served as president of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, the national organization of accredited journalism programs. He has also served as chairman of the journalism faculty committee and director of the Midwestern Journalism Camp.

Dr. Brinkman holds a Ph.D. in mass communications and an M.A. in journalism from Indiana and a B.S. degree in English from Emporia State. He came to KU in the fall of 1970 from Indiana.

From August of 1973 until December of 1974 he served as associate dean of the School of Journalism. In July of 1975 he advanced to the top position. While at Kansas he has also served as the news-editorial advisor of the University Daily Kansan, the school newspaper.

Dr. Brinkman, 43, is married to the former Evelyn Lange of Cummings, Kan. They have two children Scott, 16 and Susan, 11.

Bob Marcum

Director of Athletics

The highly popular Bob Marcum is now in his third year as director of athletics at Kansas. Marcum succeeded former athletic director Clyde Walker on Aug. 1, 1978, after serving as associate director of athletics at Iowa State for seven years.

He held several responsibilities for the Cyclones including supervision of the athletic business office, preparation of budgets, public relations, fund raising and administration of the department's policies and procedures. He also was a member of Iowa State's stadium planning committee leading to the opening in 1975 of the school's 50,000-seat football facility.

Robert K. "Bob" Marcum was born on Oct. 29, 1936, in Huntington, W.Va. He graduated from Huntington High School in 1955 following an impressive prep athletic career in which he won 12 varsity letters — three each in football, basketball, track and baseball. He gained the most acclaim in football, however, where his senior year he was a first team all-state halfback and entertained scholarship offers from Kentucky, Marshall, Ohio State, West Virginia and Tennessee among others.

He also was a starting guard for Huntington's state runnerup basketball team his senior year. He divided his time in track between the shot put and 440 relay team and was a pitcher for the school's baseball team.

Marcum also served as president of his high school's Varsity Club. He twice served as a delegate to Boys State and served as vice-president of the school's Ro Club, a citizenship organization sponsored by the City's Rotary Club.

He enrolled at Marshall in his hometown of Huntington, but never achieved football stardom as expected because of two knee injuries his freshman season that put a premature end to his career. He remained close to the athletic department, however, serving the next three years as basketball trainer.

Following graduation in the summer of 1959, he launched his coaching career serving one year as an assistant football coach at Rutland, Ohio, High School. A year later, 1960, he moved to Logan, Ohio, High School where he served as an assistant in football, basketball and track.

In the fall of 1963, Marcum began a five-year stint as assistant football coach at McKinley High School in Canton, Ohio. During that time the school won 39 of 50 games and in 1964 was the state runner-up with a 9-1 record. The school's only loss was in the state title game to Massillon High School which ironically was coached by Earle Bruce, former head coach at Iowa State and current head coach at Ohio State.

He spent his last three years at McKinley as offensive coordinator. He also spent that same time as assistant wrestling coach. In three years the school lost only four matches.

It also was during this time that Marcum became closely associated with the Ohio State football program serving as an athletic committeeman for Woody Hayes' program. Specifically, he worked under Lou McCullough, then an assistant under Hayes and now director of athletics at Iowa State. Marcum was responsible for the Buckeyes' recruiting program in the Canton-Alliance-Massillon area, all of which are part of Stark County, Ohio. Ohio State's 1968 national championship team had 13 players from Stark County including six starters.

Marcum gave up his coaching responsibilities starting with the fall of 1968 at which time he became assistant principal at Hartford High School in Canton. It also provided him time to study for his master's degree in education which he received in 1970 from the University of Akron.

He remained in that position until July 1, 1971, when he resigned to accept the position at Iowa State under McCullough who, at the time, had just been named the Cyclones' director of athletics.

Marcum follows an elite group of seven men who preceded him as athletic director at KU. First was the late Dr. F.C. "Phog" Allen, who was appointed Dec. 1, 1919, following a period of "Managers of Athletics." He served until June, 1937, and was succeeded by the late Gwinn Henry.

Henry's regime ran to June, 1942, at which time the late Karl Kloodz was appointed acting director for a year. The late E.C. Quigley was appointed in April, 1943, and served until July, 1950, when A.C. "Dutch" Lonborg took over. Lonborg served until his retirement July 1, 1964. At that time Wade Stinson was appointed and served until Nov. 15, 1972. Lonborg came out of retirement to serve as athletic director during the interim period between Stinson and Walker.

Marcum, 43, is married to the former Cecile Keener, a graduate of the University of Akron. They have one daughter, Diana, 22, a senior at Iowa State.

Administrative Staff

Phyllis Howlett, Assistant Director

One of the first women in the nation to hold an administrative post in men's intercollegiate athletics, Phyllis Howlett is in her second year on the KU staff.

Howlett, 46, broke into collegiate athletic administrative work in 1974 at Drake University. Working under Drake athletic director Bob Karnes, a KU graduate, she was involved with the entire Bulldog athletic operation including fund raising, overseeing facility use and serving on numerous committees.

At KU, she is responsible for the administration of all sports with the exception of football and basketball. She is responsible for the dissemination of both NCAA and AIAW rules, supervises the athletic awards program and serves on University committees which affect the athletic program.

Prior to her appointment at Drake, Howlett was extremely active in volunteer work in Des Moines and the state of Iowa. She served on a number of committees and, while at Drake, she chaired the Iowa Commission on the Status of Women, a commission created by the state legislature. She was appointed as chairperson by the governor.

This past spring she served on the selection committee of the Big Eight Conference relative to the eventual hiring of Carl James as the league's new commissioner.

Howlett received her bachelor's degree in 1954 from Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa, with a major in physical education. She is married to Ron Royer, the offensive coordinator on the Drake University football staff, and has two children — Tim, 22, and Jane, 19 — both undergraduates at Drake.

Susan Wachter, Business Manager

Serving in her first year as business manager for the Kansas Athletic Department is Susan Wachter.

Wachter joined the staff of the University of Kansas on July 1, 1976, as an auditor. She worked under the University's Director for Business Affairs until being assigned to her athletic post this past February. Prior to her present assignment she served as a University internal audit supervisor and was responsible for operational, financial and compliance auditing of University departments.

A certified public accountant and a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, she received her bachelor's degree in accounting from Pittsburg State (Kan.) University in 1970, graduating with honors.

In June of that year she joined the firm of Haskins and Sells, an accounting firm in St. Louis, where she was a junior accountant and senior assistant accountant. In December of 1971 she left to join another accounting firm, Conner, Ash and Company of Clayton, Mo., a St. Louis suburb.

Wachter returned to Pittsburg State for the 1975-76 academic year as a visiting instructor of accounting. She left that position to join the staff at KU.

Wachter, 31, is married to John Wachter, an attorney at law in Topeka with the firm of Lewis, Porter and Haynes. They are the parents of a daughter, Jessica, 6.

John Novotny, Executive Director, Williams Educational Fund

Serving as executive director of the Williams Educational Fund is John Novotny. The Williams Fund is the source of payment for KU's athletic scholarships.

Novotny, 41, first joined the KU staff 13 years ago. In August of 1976, however, he resigned to become assistant athletic director at Southern Illinois under Gale Sayers, former KU All-American halfback and a former staff member of the Kansas Athletic Department. Novotny resigned that position the following May, however, to return to Kansas.

Born Sept. 30, 1938, in Claflin, Kan., he first joined the KU staff in 1967 as academic counselor. Three years later, on June 1, 1970, he was promoted to assistant athletic director in charge of business. He held that position until January of 1974 when he took charge of KU's athletic scholarship fund raising operation.

More than $4 million dollars have been raised by the Williams Educational Fund since 1974, the year of its reorganization. This past year alone it raised just over $1 million, the first time such a pinnacle has been achieved. That clearly established Kansas as one of the top private fund raising operations in intercollegiate athletics.

Novotny holds three degrees from KU — a bachelor's in education in 1960, an AB in history and political science in 1961 and an M.A. in history in 1963.

He is married to the former Audrey Firth. They have three children — John, 20, Margaret, 16, and Jason, 5.

Sid Wilson, Sports Information Director

Kansas' new sports information director is Sid Wilson who was named to the position this past July 15.

Wilson, 30, came to Kansas from Baylor University in Waco, Tex., where he had served the previous three years as the school's sports information director. During his tenure as the Bears' publicist, the school's football and basketball media guides as well as game programs were recognized by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) as being among the nation's best.

A member of CoSIDA, he is a past chairman of the organization's publicity committee. He is also a member of the Football Writers Association, the Basketball Writers Association and the Public Relations Society of America.

Wilson is no stranger to the Big Eight Conference having received his bachelor's degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1972. He has a journalism degree with a public relations major.

As an undergraduate he worked in the Sooners' sports information office as a student assistant. Following graduation he was a reporter for the Daily Ardmoreite in Ardmore, Okla. In 1974 he succeeded Bill Hancock, now service bureau director for the Big Eight Conference, as assistant sports information director at Oklahoma under John Keith. He held that position three years before resigning to accept the Baylor appointment.

Born Dec. 5, 1949, in Shawnee, Okla., Wilson was raised in Seminole, Okla., where he graduated in 1968 from Seminole High School. He is married to the former Lynette Stowe.

Bill Newsome, Assistant Sports Information Director

Bill Newsome is in his first year on the Kansas staff. He was named assistant sports information director in January of 1980.

Newsome's responsibilities include the publicity and promotion of the Kansas Relays, the second leg of the Midwest's track and field relays circuit. He also serves as the editor of KU's football and basketball game programs. He has already been recognized by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) during his brief tenure. The organization judged his 1980 track media guide as third best in the nation.

Prior to joining the staff on a full-time basis, Newsome worked as a student assistant in the sports information office for two years. He served as editor of KU's recruiting publications during that time.

Newsome, 22, is a 1979 graduate of the University of Kansas, holding a bachelor's degree in journalism with a magazine major. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in business administration.

A bachelor, Newsome was born Oct. 8, 1957, in Lawrence, Kan. He was raised in Manhattan, Kan., and is a 1975 graduate of Manhattan High School.

Floyd Temple, Physical Plant Director

For more than a quarter century now Floyd Temple has been a familiar face in the Kansas Athletic Department.

For the past 27 years he has served as head baseball coach. Five years ago he assumed additional responsibilities as head of the department's physical plant operations. As a coach, he is dean of both Big Eight baseball mentors and KU head coaches. In fact, only Dr. F.C. Allen, for 39 years KU's basketball coach, had a longer tenure as a head coach at Kansas.

As physical plant director Temple is responsible for the supervision of the Jayhawk athletic maintenance staff and the administration of the operations of Memorial Stadium, Allen Field House and other athletic facilities.

This past baseball season he guided Kansas to a 26-19 record, its third straight winning season. Temple now has a career won-loss record of 404-385 and has produced four All-Americans — John Trombold, Stirling Coward, Steve McGreevy and Matt Gundelfinger.

Temple, 54, was inducted into the Kansas Baseball Hall of Fame in Wichita in 1966.

Born Feb. 3, 1926, Temple played baseball two years at Coffeyville, Kan., Junior College before transferring to Kansas in the fall of 1948. He earned two varsity letters in football playing both halfback and fullback. In baseball he played third base for the Jayhawks' 1949 Big Seven championship team. He earned his B.S. in education from Kansas in 1950.

He is married to the former Beverly Brooks, also of Coffeyville.

Dr. Mike Fisher, Academic Counselor

Mike Fisher, a former standout football player at Kansas, is in his fourth year as KU's academic counselor, having been named to the position in July of 1977.

Fisher, 44, has completed work on his doctorate in higher education at KU. In 1976 he received his Ed. S. from Pittsburg State University. In 1967 he received a bachelor's in English from KU and in 1973 received a master's degree in English from Pittsburg State.

Fisher first came to Kansas in 1955 following graduation in 1954 from East Hartford, Conn., High School and one year at Phillips Andover Academy in Andover, Mass.

An outstanding prep football player, he broke his neck in his first year at KU and was advised to not play again. He then left school to join the Marines but played service ball two years at Camp Lejune in Jacksonville, N.C.

He returned to KU in 1958 and was red-shirted. As a sophomore in 1959 he played five games at fullback. He started his last two years at offensive guard on Kansas teams that finished 7-2-1 and 7-3-1. His senior year he helped the Jayhawks win the Bluebonnet Bowl with a 33-7 thumping of Rice. Later he received the Arthur Weaver Award as the senior with the best scholastic average. In 1962 he played briefly with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The military and an active interest in journalism have occupied much of Fisher's time since his playing days. He returned to the Marine Corps and saw combat duty in both Santo Domingo and Vietnam. He was decorated for valor in Vietnam. He has also served as a reporter for the Kansas City Star and has free lanced other articles for publication. Included was an article entitled "War Means Fighting" which appeared in the December, 1977, issue of Military Review.

Born March 20, 1936, in Kansas City, Mo., Fisher is married to the former Mary Hencey. They have two children, Mark, 12, and John, 10.

Nancy Welsh, Ticket Manager

Serving as ticket manager for the Kansas Athletic Department is Mrs. Nancy Welsh.

Now in her sixth year as a member of the KU staff, Mrs. Welsh was named to her present position in February of 1976. Prior to joining the KU staff she worked six years in the Douglas County Treasurer's Office in Lawrence. Prior to that she served as a bookkeeper for Independent Laundry of Lawrence.

Mrs. Welsh has overseen during her tenure a conversion of the Athletic Ticket Office to computer. It has been responsible for a considerably more efficient ticket operation.

Born Dec. 15, 1946, in Lawrence, she is a 1964 graduate of Lawrence High School. She is a past vice-president of the Lawrence Jaycee Jaynes and is a member of Adah Chapter No. 7 of the Order of Eastern Star, and the Clinton Historical Society.

She is married to Lonnie Welsh, also a Lawrence native. He is associated with Dandlinger and Son Construction. They have two children — Derek, 9, and J.T., 6.

Tom Hedrick, KU Sports Network Director

Tom Hedrick is now in his second hitch as director of the KU Sports Network. Under his leadership the Network is presently the largest it has been since its inception 27 years ago with nearly 30 outlets in football and more than 15 in basketball.

The network was previously under his direction from 1960 to 1967. He returned as "Voice of the Jayhawks" July 1, 1975.

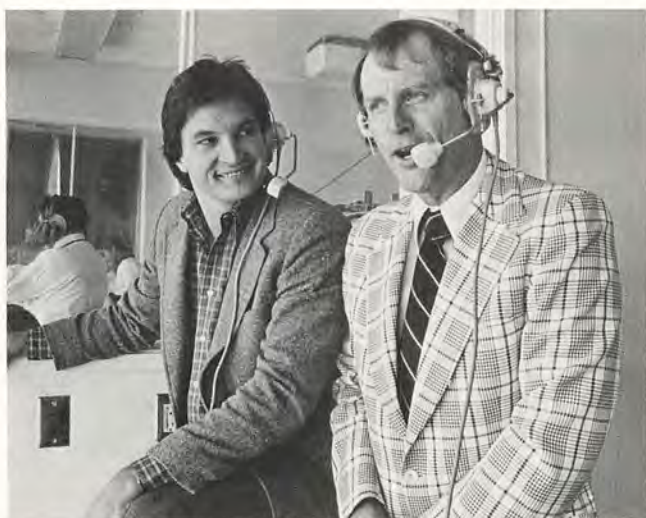

Hedrick, 46, has an impressive list of assignments and accomplishments. The 26-year broadcasting veteran has been voted sportscaster-of-the-year in Kansas six times and once in Missouri. He has done radio and television play-by-play for the University of Nebraska, Kansas City Chiefs, Cincinnati Reds and Texas Rangers. For 10 years he has handled the radio play-by-play of the Cotton Bowl for CBS. He has also broadcast three Super Bowls, Southwest Conference football, Missouri Valley Conference basketball and has been an announcer for ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Hedrick has also served in television with stations in Lincoln, Neb., Kansas City and Dallas.

Hedrick is both the fourth and seventh director of the KU Network. Other directors include Merle Harmon, Bill Grigsby, Monte Moore, Gary Bender and Jerry Bailey.

Hedrick graduated from Baker University in Baldwin, Kan., with honors in 1956. He received a master's in radio and television from KU in 1958.

Born May 5, 1934, in Boston, Mass., he and his wife, Ann, who also attended KU, have one daughter, Nancy, 19, a sophomore at KU.

David Jaynes, the All-America quarterback in 1973 for Kansas, will again serve as colorman for the KU Sports Network. Jaynes (above left) will team for the second year with Tom Hedrick, director of the KU Network.

KU Marching Band

Recognized for many years as one of the country's finest, the University of Kansas Marching Band is the featured attraction during pre-game and halftime of all Kansas home games.

In addition the 250-piece unit will accompany the Jayhawks to Oklahoma State on Oct. 25 and Kansas State on Nov. 1. A pep band, composed from the Marching Band, will travel to Colorado Nov. 15 and Missouri Nov. 22.

Marching with ultimate precision and with a distinctive style that it has become characterized by, the KU Marching Band is best known for its unique combination of the best of the great traditions blended with the most exciting and innovative marching and musical material that can be created.

Students in the band represent virtually every school and department in the University with the largest numbers coming from the schools of Fine Arts, Education, Engineering, Business and Liberal Arts. While the largest number of students are from within the state of Kansas, the band also has representatives from all surrounding states as well as from such distant states as New York, Rhode Island, Florida, Georgia, and California.

Director of KU bands is Prof. Robert Foster. He came to Kansas in 1971 after serving as Associate Director of Bands at the University of Florida.

The son of a highly successful high school band director in Texas, Prof. Foster enjoyed a high school career that successfully mixed athletics and music. He was an all-district football player (on a team that won 13 consecutive games) and earned All-America honors in music when he was selected to the position of solo (first chair) cornet in the Music Educators National Conference All-National Band.

He earned degrees from the University of Texas and the University of Houston.

Prof. Foster is married to the former Becky Cox. They have three children: Becky, 16, Robby, 14, and Randy, 2.

The Jayhawk of Kansas

The Jayhawk is a myth of unknown origin. The term "to Jayhawk" and the name "Jayhawkers" appeared in the 1850s all the way from Illinois to Texas. The sobriquet was attached to foragers, guerillas, even to a fighting regiment, "Jennison's Jayhawkers."

The earliest use of the words which has been traced definitely, occurred in 1848. A wagon train which had formed at Galesburg, Ill., was starting for the California gold fields without much equipment or provisions. When asked how they expected to get across the desolate plains and mountains one member said, "We are going to Jayhawk our way." The party became known as the "Jayhawkers." Most of them made it across, after terrible suffering.

In the pre-Civil War skirmishes in which Lawrence, Kan., was a chief target, the term "Jayhawk" continued to live in people's memories as shown by the fact that when the original version of the now famous "Rock Chalk" chant of the University of Kansas was created in 1886, the word "Jayhawk" was part of it — even before "Rock Chalk" was added. It was only natural that the name "Jayhawks" should be applied to the State University's football team when it took the field in 1890.

As early as 1901 artists began to draw their imaginary representations of the Jayhawk but the symbol was not really established until 1910. Since then the Jayhawk has evolved into a pugnacious feathered creature with a big bill and large feet — sometimes equipped with shoes.
